ROOSEVELT ASKS FINNS TO QUIT WAR

U. S. Planes Follow Up Heavy RAF Night Blow

STUTTGART HIT RECORD BLOW IN NIGHT RAID

British Pour 3,360 Tons of Bombs on City; Yanks Over South Germany.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 16—Bearing down in great strength U S heavy bombers struck another hard blow today in close sequence to a record night attack by the RAF which hit Stuttgart, Munich and other targets with more than 1,000 four-engined bombers carrying over 3,360 tons of bombs.

It was the U. S. strategic air forces second aerial invasion of Germany in as many days.

First detailed accounts of the smash came from the German radio which said widespread falls of rain and low clouds caused great difficulties in getting fighters off the ground to meet the onslaught.

Nevertheless, the Germans said, fierce air battles took place along the bombers' course over eastern France and western German provinces.

Similar radio accounts yesterday emphasized cloudy weather and only a small defensive force was able to meet American airmen who bombed the aircraft production center of Brunswick with a loss of three heavy planes.

Today's sally was officially described as in "great strength," in contrast to yesterday's "medium force whose fighters shot down 16 enemy fighters. The bombers yesterday claimed none.

Stuttgart received the main stock of the RAF's weight.

Munich Another Target

At the same time this important industrial target, 300 miles southeast of Berlin, was being pounded to pieces, other British airmen hit at Munich in southwest Germany, other targets in southwest Germany and smashed at railway objectives in Amiens, France.

Forty-one British aircraft, following up the blow at the aircraft center of Brunswick yesterday by American Fortress and Liberator fleets, were lost in the huge night invasion of the German air.

The weather prevented immediate observation of the results, but towards the end of the attack the glow of large fires were seen through the clouds, the air ministry said in announcing the Stuttgart attack.

Only a few hours after the RAF returned from the multiple attack a big force of American bombers streaked out across the English channel to continue the onslaught by daylight.

Meanwhile allied headquarters announcements from Naples reported a two-way operation against Germany and her satellites with a heavy and medium bomber attack from Italy last night against Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, followed by a raid in force by RAF Wellingtons which

DETROIT PHYSICIAN GIVEN 16-YEAR TERM

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, March 16—Federal Judge Edward J Moinet today sentenced Dr. Fred W. Thomas, Detroit obstetrician convicted of conspiracy to violate the wartime espionage act, to 16 years in federal prison.

Dr. Thomas, one of eight persons indicted on charges of espionage conspiracy, was convicted two weeks ago by a federal court jury. Six pleaded guilty and are awaiting sentencing. Charges against the eighth Bertrand Stuart Hofman, a merchant marine seaman were dismissed at his trial on the ground he was mentally incapable of understanding the charge.

Dr Thomas was accused of supplying espionage information on war production and troop movements and ingredients for the manufacture of invisible ink to Miss Grace Buchanan-Dineen, described by the federal bureau of investigation as leader of the espionage ring.

U. S. Tanks and Infantry Drive Into Ghost City of Cassino

Ruins of Buildings Actually Delays Entry of Americans Into Town Blasted to Bits by Bombs.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 16 — Covered by a thundering artillery barrage, Fifth army infantry and tanks plunged into the ghost city of Cassino today but allied headquarters said the advance was impeded by continuing German resistance and the ruins left by yesterday's record aerial bombardment.

The enormous destruction wrought by the weight of some 2,500 tons of bombs actually delayed Allied armor. From surrounding hills the Germans were laying down heavy mortar fire on the town to hinder sappers struggling to clear the debris.

Steady progress was reported, however, both in the devastated city and in the hills to the northwest. As the troops drove into the piles of wildly-churned rubble left by history's most concentrated air attack, several hundred British and American artillery pieces pounded the enemy back.

The allied air forces took a crack last night and early today at railway and other targets in Sofia, capital of Bulgaria. A communique said both heavy and medium bombers attacked successfully.

On the beachhead below Rome allied ground forces also were on the move, taking two German defense points and holding them against forceful enemy counter-attacks.

Eaker Calls It "Fumigation"

Lt Gen Ira C Eaker, commander of the Mediterranean allied air forces, called the Cassino bombardment "a fumigation" and expressed belief few enemy defenses were left intact.

Gen. Eaker voiced satisfaction over the results.

"Undoubtedly never before in warfare have air forces concentrated so much destruction on a target of comparable size in a single mission," he declared.

Bombers of all sizes and types took part in the obliteration effort.

Official photographs released last night indicated that no buildings remained in the town which until the Germans stopped there in early January and stubbornly resisted all allied efforts to oust them, had housed some 19,000 persons.

On the basis of information available at headquarters this morning it was certain some Germans still were holding out in the immediate vicinity of Cassino but whether remnants remained in the town itself was not immediately determined. It was known there were many underground hideaways in the town.

At any rate, the Germans were obeying Hitler's orders that this key strongpoint on the way to Rome must be held at all costs.

In the northwest hills where

ATTACK JAPS ON LONG LINE

500 Tons of Bombs Dropped on Enemy Positions; Wewak Hard Hit Again.

By The Associated Press

A 350-mile segment of Japan's southwest Pacific line was ripped with a 500-ton air smash, Gen Douglas MacArthur communiqued today, while American fliers in the central Pacific picked out a new target—Oroluk atoll—in the eastern Carolines.

From Wewak, New Guinea, on the west to Bougainville, Solomon islands, on the east, southwest Pacific airmen had a field day, blasting bomb-cratered Japanese supply bases, starting fires and destroying vital ground installations.

Wewak Hit Fourth Day

For the fourth straight day, Wewak, main enemy supply and air base in northern New Guinea, was pounded by allied fliers Monday. Eight interceptors were shot down when they tried to dull the 174-ton blow. More than 600 tons of explosives have been poured into Wewak's defenses during the four-day assault.

The communique reported other heavy raids on enemy positions, including a 68-ton blast at Rabaul, New Britain, and a 123-ton strike supporting ground troops repelling suicidal Japanese lunges at Empress Augusta bay, Bougainville.

Two heroes of earlier raids on Wewak were scratched from the active roll when headquarters listed Col. Neal Kearby, San Antonio, Texas, credited with 21 enemy plane victims, as missing in action, and Lt. Col. Thomas Lynch, Catasauqua, Pa., 19-plane ace, as killed in action.

Won Honor Medal

Kearby had won the congressional medal of honor for destroying at least six Japanese planes in a whirling dog-fight over Wewak last Oct. 11 and Lynch often led his famous "headquarters" fighter squadron over the New Guinea stronghold.

Adm Chester W. Nimitz, allied commander-in-chief in the Pacific, accompanied by Lt Gen Robert Richardson, central Pacific army commander, returned from Washington conferences and announced Navy planes on Monday hit Oroluk for the first time in the war. The small atoll lies 190 miles east of Truk.

Other planes smashed Japanese on Ponape and Kusaie in the eastern Carolines and four outflanked enemy bases in the eastern Marshalls.

In northern Burma, a drive by Chinese troops to clear the Hukawng valley brought the capture of a small village south of Walaubum and placed them almost in the Mogaung valley, through which run key Japanese communication lines.

FIND LABOR-HIRERS MAKE HUGE PROFITS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — Profits running as high as 250 per cent of the services of workmen hired out to war contractors by professional "labor-hirers" have been disclosed in reports of investigators of the house military committee, R. Ralph Burton, committee counsel, said today.

Burton estimated in an interview that at least 25 cases of what he called "labor renting traffic" are being investigated throughout the country, with profits running into millions of dollars which are charged against the government through cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts.

Because the investigations are not complete, he declined to name companies engaging in the practice.

AS GRIPSHOLM RETURNED. Swedish liner Gripsholm has returned to the U. S. on its third wartime exchange mission with 633 American and Latin American repatriates released from Nazi internment camps in France and Germany. The liner is shown at top as it arrived at Jersey City, N. J. Among those who were returned to the U. S. was S. Pinckney Tuck, acting U. S. charge d'affairs at Vichy, France, and his wife, shown together in lower photo. (International).

Tell of Travel on Nazi Train

Prisoners Locked in Cold Coaches for Trip To Board Gripsholm.

By The Associated Press

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 16 —After the privations of life in Nazi internment camps and the terrors of a "hell train" on which they left the reich, 374 non-official civilian repatriates patiently waited today aboard the exchange liner Gripsholm to set foot on free soil again.

Disembarkation of the official part of 149 diplomatic attaches, Red Cross personnel and newspapermen was completed last night, seven hours after the white-painted Swedish ship docked at 3:55 p. m. (EWT).

First to leave were 36 wounded U. S. servicemen. Also cleared by the investigation panel were 103 Latin Americans.

Still aboard when the examinations were resumed this morning were the remainder of the 662 repatriates. Among them were some who told Mel Most, Associated Press staff member at Vichy and himself a Gripsholm passenger, of seeing anti-collaborationist Frenchmen shot dead by Nazis near the Compiegne internment camp; of seeing Augsberg a blazing inferno after an allied bombing; and of being sealed in heatless cars in an awful "hell train" enroute to Lisbon, Portugal.

Travelers aboard the train told of being refused drinking water and being kept without food for 24 hours.

Aboard the ship was a strange assortment of Americans—some of them speaking with foreign accents, some who had not seen their native land for 30 years and teen-age children who never had been in the nation of which they were citizens.

There was an apparent feeling of relief among the repatriates as the exchange ship swung up the New York harbor, but little show of jubilation. The feeling of many was expressed in the terse comment of one who said he had "no family, no home, no plans."

But the all-inclusive thankfulness at being out of war-torn Europe was embodied in the comment of another who said simply, "we're glad to be alive."

The official repatriates said they had been satisfactorily treated during their detention, although kept under close surveillance, and had received an adequate amount of food.

Dr. Harold C. Stuart, Red Cross medical advisor, said the people in Germany existed "fairly well off and there is little evidence of starvation among the civilian population."

House Told Army Sells 27,000 Old Batteries for $15

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — Rep. Cochran (D-Mo) told the house today preliminary Army reports disclose a civilian employe at the Ogden, Utah Army depot purchased from salvage officers for fifteen dollars, 27,000 average dry cell batteries for which the government had paid $17,999.

A preliminary investigation has been made by the inspector general's office of the ninth service command and a more extensive inquiry is under way, Cochran said. A report shows no fraud or collusion.

As a result of the preliminary inquiry, he said, changes have been instituted for enforcement of existing regulations governing sale and disposal of salvaged property.

Cochran said a statement furnished him in connection with the preliminary investigation showed the batteries, all over age and unsuitable for military use, were received at the depot in April, 1943. J. W. Halbertson asked for permission from the salvage officer to buy the batteries which were about to be destroyed. He offered $15 and the amount was accepted, Cochran said, after the salvage officer obtained authority from ninth service command headquarters to make the sale.

Cochran said, the report also showed Harbertson purchased 23,587 in September, 1943, for $60 and W. W. Grethe of Bountiful, Utah bought 42,646 for $50.

Cochran declared sales to government employes are contrary to Army regulations.

Cochran said in his opinion surplus and salvage property should be sold in the open market on bids and "where prices are ridiculous they should not be accepted."

YOUTHS ARRAIGNED ON CRIME CHARGES

Four Held to Grand Jury, One Sent to Reformatory.

Four young Marion county men arrested last week-end by city, county and state patrol authorities, clearing an 18-day crime wave that reached into several counties, were bound over to the Marion county grand jury under bonds of $3,500 each when they appeared in municipal court yesterday.

All pleaded guilty. The youths and the charges against each are: James E. Jackson, 18, of 375 Thompson street, Don Swearingen, 20, of the Sawyer road and Joseph Henderson, 18, of near Agosta, each charged with breaking and entering; John E. Wylie, 24, of 294 Willow street, charged with receiving stolen property.

Lewis Louck, 16, of five miles west of Marion on the Espyville road, one of three juveniles involved in the series of crimes, was given an indeterminate sentence in the Mansfield Reformatory. Court authorities said Louck, who had a previous court record, was named in confessions of the group as one of the principal participants, and that among the three juveniles his punishment was the most severe.

In the cases of the other two juveniles' Judge Oscar Gast said he did not want to release their names because this was their first

CENTRAL PART OF NAZI LINE NEAR COLLAPSE

Report Second Ukraine Army Driving Steadily Toward Rumania.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 16 — The whole central sector of the German front in southern Russia appeared in a state of collapse, the Russians said today as Marshal Ivan S. Konev's second Ukraine army drove relentlessly on toward Rumania, advance units of his troops reaching positions less than 100 miles from the frontier.

(The Rumanian frontier as defined by Moscow is the border which was set up in 1940 after Russia had annexed Bessarabia. Actually, according to official Russian reports on the Soviet advance, Red army troops are within 30 miles of the Bessarabian border.)

Drives Speed Ahead

Field dispatches said two great Soviet drives were making speedy progress toward Nikolaev and Odessa and that the Germans were falling back in confusion upon these potential evacuation ports.

Some Russian units were reported about 100 miles north of Odessa while Nikolaev was virtually cut off from the Black sea by Russian big guns covering Bug lake below the city.

The Germans apparently were in danger of losing the most northern of the only two remaining railways in their hands which runs back into Bessarabia from Slobodzeya on the Odessa-Lwow line. The Russians said their troops were only 20 miles north of the junction.

The army newspaper, Red Star, said Stormovik dive bombers were blasting a way for Konev's cavalry as it moves forward through the 62-mile gap on the western side of the Bug river. The Soviets were reported 20 miles beyond the river in some places, slightly less than 25 miles from the Dniester river, the Bessarabian boundary.

Indications are the Germans will try to make an all-out stand on the Dniester.

Nazis Cover Retreat

Red Star dispatches reported the Germans were covering their retreat on the western side of the Bug with strong forces. The dispatches said Soviet troops crossed yesterday in the early morning.

The Russians cut the German divisions surrounded northeast of Nikolaev into small centers of resistance, Red Star said.

Red army units west of Kherson are battering their way through the outer defenses of Nikolaev and are only 13 miles away at several places.

On the western end of the 500-mile Ukrainian front, the Russians are exerting a strangle hold on Vinnitsa where they are about six miles from the city on three sides.

PLANE CREW DIES IN CRASH

Bomber Hits Mountain in Virginia; 12 Bodies Are Found.

By The Associated Press

DANVILLE, Va., March 16—The crew of a four-engined army plane from the Charleston, S. C., air base was killed last night when the big craft crashed into a summit of Bull mountain—in mountainous southwest Virginia—and burned.

Kay Thompson, managing editor of the Martinsville, Va., Daily Bulletin, and Lt. P. W. Crews of Virginia state police said they counted twelve bodies scattered amid wreckage on the summit in Patrick county.

They were blackened by fire.

Public relations officers at the Charleston base said the plane was from there, but provided no details. Evidently the plane was a bomber.

The big plane circled Patrick Springs, a small rural community several times, before hitting the mountainside about 10:40 p. m.

Fred Williams, who lives in Patrick Springs, said he was told the bodies would be sent to Winston-Salem, N. C., after being brought three miles through the timberland to the nearest road. Army personnel and a band of volunteers were engaged in that task this morning.

(The Richmond, Va., army air base said the plane may have been from the Greensboro, N. C. base.)

Williams said he was awakened by noise of the low-flying plane. "I went outdoors and watched it circle three times over Patrick Springs. Then I heard a crash and a great light went up half way up Bull mountain followed by fire so bright that we could read a paper by it down here."

2 MORE TOWNSHIPS PASS DRIVE GOALS

Red Cross Report Meeting Scheduled Tonight.

Two more townships have topped their Red Cross war fund drive quota and with this addition the number over their goal now stands at four.

Don Clements, chairman of Montgomery township reported their goal at $540 and their total subscriptions now are $558.45.

The second report was from Mrs. Ida Beers, chairman for Scott township. Yesterday she announced the workers had topped their $300 goal by an $11 margin.

Grand township with Mrs. Ralph Williams and Grand Prairie through Mrs. Harry Brewer were the first to report that they had gone over the top. According to the last reports from these two, Grand with a goal of $210 had collected $301.25 and as Grand Prairie had turned in $427.50. Their goal was set at $300.

Miss Lillian Black, executive secretary of the Marion chapter, said today that an average eight donations are received daily at the office through the mail. Other residents who find that method of contributing more convenient are requested to do so.

Up-to-date reports of the progress of the campaign will be given by the various chairmen at a meeting in War Fund headquarters at 8 o'clock today.

Marion Soldier Reports Dale Greenland Named as German Prisoner by Nazi Radio

If a group of American servicemen somewhere in the Italian battle sector heard aright when a German broadcast was on the air recently, Dale E. Greenland, Marion ranger, reported missing in action on Jan. 30, is a prisoner of war in Germany.

The unexpected news was received from Cpl. Milton Birnbaum in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Birnbaum of McWilliams court, Monday. "While listening to a German propaganda broadcast the other night," the letter relates, "names of Americans taken prisoners at the Rapidetto were mentioned and I didn't pay too much attention until a year went up from the fellows and they told me that the propagandist mentioned Marion, O. The last name was Dale or Gale Greenland and I'm sure I know him. That's all that was said and since there's no other information I won't write his parents."

U. S., BRITAIN JOIN IN PLEA TO HELSINKI

Last-Minute Effort Made To Urge Acceptance of Russian Terms.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—The United States joined Great Britain in a direct appeal to the Finnish people to end what President Roosevelt termed "this hateful partnership" in war with Nazi Germany.

A formal presidential statement was issued at the White House after Britain had urged the Finns to accept Soviet Russia's armistice terms or "count national disaster." This apparent last-minute effort to prevent complete collapse of Russo-Finnish peace negotiations, said in the President's name:

"It has always seemed odd to me and to the people of the United States to find Finland a partner of Nazi Germany, fighting side by side with the sworn enemies of our civilization.

"The Finnish people now have a chance to withdraw from this hateful partnership. The longer they stay at Germany's side the more sorrow and suffering is bound to come to them. I think I can speak for all Americans when I say that we sincerely hope Finland will now take the opportunity to dissociate herself from Germany."

Success Is Questioned

In view of the Finnish parliament's vote yesterday, interpreted in Stockholm as tantamount to approval of the government's rejection of the Soviet terms, it was not immediately clear how Mr. Roosevelt hoped his peace appeal could be accomplished—whether through reopening of armistice representations or through a popular demand on the part of the Finnish people which would be reflected through their government.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said he thought the reasons for issuing the statement could be found in the last half of the last sentence, voicing a hope Finland now will sever ties with Germany.

American officials who have sought for almost three years to get Finland out of the war took a grave view of Helsinki's rejection of the Russian peace terms.

Reason for Finns' Stand

The underlying reason for the Finns' action was believed to be their inability or unwillingness to intern German divisions in their country. Even deeper, perhaps, is their fear of Russian domination which has made them balk at Moscow's offer to send in troops to help bottle up the Germans.

Possible consequences in European war diplomacy also were deplored here, since it has been believed that neutrals, such as Turkey and Spain, and Nazi satellites such as Rumania and Bulgaria were watching Finnish developments closely for guidance on their own policies.

LONDON, March 16 — Warned by a British broadcast that she faces "the most momentous decision of her history," Finland was reported drafting a negative reply today to Moscow's peace proposals and wearily digging in for a last-ditch fight beside the Germans.

An Helsinki communique last night said the Finnish parliament had unanimously approved a motion "to return to the order of the day"—a move tantamount to approval of the Finnish government's rejection of the Soviet terms.

At almost the same time parliament was considering the question of peace or war, a BBC broadcast, obviously officially approved gave what it called "final warning" to the Finns to accept Moscow's "moderate" terms and get out of the war at once or face the prospect of "national suicide."

In the 2,500 sorties sent against Cassino and other targets in Italy yesterday, the allied air forces lost six planes, it was announced officially.

Although Fifth army forces on the beachhead threw back first enemy efforts to regain the two enemy strongpoints taken yesterday southwest of Carroceto, latest reports today said fighting still was going on under harassing enemy artillery fire.

The Germans were said to be using a new "grappling device" in an effort to explode allied mines along the beachhead perimeter.

Some prisoners were taken in patrol actions on both the Fifth army and Eighth army fronts.

Allied aircraft made far-ranging attacks yesterday, bombing Durazzo harbor in Albania, ammunition dumps north of Rome and small ports along the Italian west coast, the railway station at San Benedetto, on Italy's Adriatic coast, and the railroad west of Terni, above Rome.

Finland Decides To Defy Russian Hurricane of War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

One of the momentous decisions of the war is in the making—perhaps has been irrevocably cast already—in Helsinski where the Finnish government has been struggling with the fateful question of whether to accept Russia's armistice terms or to defy the hurricane.

The little country is generally reported to have decided on rejection of the Soviet conditions. An Associated Press dispatch says the Finns are preparing everywhere for the resumption of war. The final word, upon which hangs great eventualities, is expected to go forward to Moscow at the week-end.

Finland's rejection of the armistice terms must have grave consequences for all save the world's worst enemy—Adolf Hitler.

It means that this brave but mistaken small country will have to undergo a tragic manhandling, with ultimate surrender which, at the least, may bring indefinite military occupation of Finnish territory by Red forces.

Defeat for Allies

In effect it is a major military defeat for the allies at the most critical moment of the war when we are marshaling all our strength to administer the coup de grace to Germany. As things now stand Finland continues to guard Hitler's flank on the Baltic; she compels the Russians to maintain in northern Russia fighting troops which are needed elsewhere for the great offensives.

By the same token it is for Hitler a military triumph. But it's more than that, for it will have a far-reaching moral effect. It will bolster the failing morale of the German people. It may encourage some neutrals to continue granting Hitler favors—Spain for instance.

Unless Finland recedes from this position at once, the immediate effect presumably will be a fierce bombardment of Helsinski and other cities by the Red air fleet. In due course that will be followed by a land offensive.

Defeat Only Outcome

There can be only one outcome—bitter defeat for the Finns.

If Finland believes that Uncle Sam will intervene and save her because of past friendship, she has badly misjudged the possibilities. Our state department has made it clear that we expect her to quit the unholy alliance with Hitler. Only Tuesday Secretary Hull reiterated the hope that the Finns would withdraw from this association.

That was more than an expression of hope. It was a warning.

The same is true of Britain. The British Broadcasting Co. has gone to the extreme of giving a "final warning" to the Finns to accept the terms. The B. B. C. says that the alternative is the prospect of "national suicide."

One wonders whether the people of Finland as a whole really know all the hard facts of the situation, or whether they have been in the dark. It presumably was with this thought in mind that the B. C. C. made its appeal.

Manpower Problems Scheduled for Discussion Here Monday

State Speakers Coming To Help in Discussion of Situation Resulting from Draft Changes.

Manpower problems confronted by both industry and business will be studied with the help of state speakers in Marion next Monday.

New draft deferment troubles faced by Marion industries in the tightened regulations just announced from Washington will be discussed in detail when the manufacturers' council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce hears Major Theodore White, representative of the state selective service board, at a noon meeting in Hotel Harding Monday.

He will speak on selective service replacements and the scheduling of Manning tables. It is expected manufacturers will have questions to ask about problems centering around the new, tightened regulations concerning deferment of highly skilled workers under the age of 27.

Another phase of the manpower problem will be taken up at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the United States Employment Service office when the Marion Area War Manpower committee invites Marion businessmen to sit in on a meeting at which Ralph Gabele of Columbus, area WMC director, will explain the proposed transfer of Marion into a Group 2 WMC classification, which automatically would invoke the 48-hour work week in Marion and a number of nearby communities within the Marion labor market area. One of the big questions for businessmen is expected to be how to exempt their concerns from the 48-hour work week if working the longer hours will not free any workers for war industries.

Two other meetings to be attended by Chamber members are scheduled for next week.

One will be a 4 p. m. district meeting of the Committee of Economic Development at the Marion club rooms in Hotel Harding at which representatives of the CED will explain the purpose of that group and suggest steps for local post-war planning. This will be open to the public.

The other is the joint luncheon of service clubs and the Chamber Thursday noon at Hotel Harding to welcome heads of several industries which recently located in Marion. T. C. Graham, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Co. of Akron, will be the speaker.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX DEADLINE NEAR

Only 15 Days Left, County Auditor Warns.

Only 15 days remain before the deadline for payment of personal property tax, both tangible and intangible, County Auditor Harry E. Mounts announced today. The deadline is Friday, March 31.

Of a possible 3,500 residents of the city and county to whom blanks for filing were mailed some weeks ago only approximately 1,500 have filed their returns with the county auditor. Persons wishing to mail their claims to the office may file their reports in this way, provided they are properly sworn to and accompanied by one-half the amount of the taxes. The other half will be due by Sept. 20.

While an effort has been made to reach every person in the county there is a possibility that some have not received a blank, Mr. Mounts said today. This does not excuse persons having taxable personal property, he explained, and they should apply at the office for blanks for filing. All farmers are required to file on livestock and farm equipment, and persons in business are required to file on merchandise, fixtures and other properties. Intangible property consists of stocks, money loaned on notes, mortgages or monies invested.

For the convenience of persons unable to call during the regular office hours, the office will be open through the noon hour each day and on Saturdays until 1 p. m. until deadline, the auditor announces.

Mrs. Roosevelt Talks at Station in Brazil

By The Associated Press

BELEM, BRAZIL, March 14—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, on a visit to this air-naval base, today told United States military personnel their tasks were extremely important even though they are not dodging bullets.

The President's wife said the chief executive wanted her to take that message to the men and women in Latin America.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived here by plane Monday evening. She visited the Army hospital, the Navy dispensary and inspected recreational facilities.

Foreign Policy and the Election

IT IS in the campaign cards that Mr. Roosevelt and his campaign managers will ring all the changes in the months between now and next November on the existing administration's grasp of foreign policy—as opposed, of course, to the unfamiliarity of the opposing candidate with what is going on behind the veil of secrecy.

The claim will be made that only Mr. Roosevelt is equipped to deal with governments abroad, for the very evident reason that he is the only man who has been dealing with them. The claim will be made that no outsider possibly could get the hang of maintaining harmony with Messrs. Churchill, Stalin et al in time to avert tragic misunderstandings. And it undoubtedly will be claimed, unless events to the contrary interefere, that Mr. Roosevelt has been doing such a good job that he is entitled to reelection on his mastery of foreign policy alone, if for no other reason. That much is in the campaign cards for certain; there may be more.

Unfortunately, no one below the official automobile level of politics in the federal establishment can know how masterful Mr. Roosevelt is proving to be in foreign policy. Neither congress nor the people can get access to any reliable information on the progress of his diplomacy. Foreign policy in the United States is the great national enigma, the super-whatizzit—and if anyone doubts it just let him try to explain in 10 or a thousand or 10 thousand words what foreign policy the Roosevelt administration stands for, aside from lend-lease, which is not a policy but an expedient.

It being in the nature of the transaction that wartime exchanges of opinion between governments can not be managed on a party-line basis with the participants pretending not to know the receivers are up, no one who is not in the official family or less than one step removed possibly can have a speaking familiarity with what is going on. To demand, as Democratic snipers are demanding, that Mr. Roosevelt's challengers for the presidency produce a thesis on foreign policy, is to ask more from them than from Mr. Roosevelt, himself, who has made the most of his prerogative of telling 'em nothing.

Mr. Roosevelt may be doing very well as an international negotiator—or he may be doing very badly. There's no way of knowing. In either event, another chief executive might be doing as well, or perhaps better. Mr. Roosevelt, himself, came to the job with no previous training whatever, and his eventual successor will have to do likewise, because the position and the responsibility are unique.

What it adds up to, election-wise, is that the contention that Franklin D. Roosevelt is the only American patriot qualified to talk to Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin had better be put away in mothballs and then tied up in a box and then put away back in the darkest corner of the least likely place anyone would think of looking for a campaign argument that will hold water.

No Substitute for Facts

FROM the fact that Prime Minister Churchill was rebuked in the house of commons for letting the British press get "scooped" on President Roosevelt's recent announcement of negotiations to augment the Russian battle fleet with units of the Italian navy—and the parallel fact that Mr. Roosevelt was being rebuked at home for the manner of making the announcement—it may be deduced that this is a good example of how not to handle important news.

The upshot of the mishandling is widespread confusion in both the United States and Great Britain about the whole affair, with overtones of international complications among the Italians and gleeful gloating in Germany. But the incident, even so, is subordinate to the whole problem of how to develop a surer technique of releasing important facts with bearing on the progress of the war and the developing patterns of post-war relations. The free press of the United States and Britain has a vital interest in the problem. Its proper solution has bearing not only on national welfare, but on the welfare of all agencies of information.

Many able men have been devoting all their skill to some kind of a solution. Some of them have been doing this as officials of government; many others are professionally concerned as working newspapermen. They have made some progress—not enough to be called a solution, however. There still can be such unfortunate bobbles as Mr. Roosevelt's too casual comment on a subject which deserved extremely careful handling; such insanely haywire arrangements as the handling of the conferences at Cairo and Teheran; such collisions of method as occurred recently in the handling of news from the Anzio beachhead.

In cases like these the impatience and frustration of news organizations are secondary to the uncertainty and confusion left in the minds of the populations whose clear understanding of events as they occur is indispensable in the successful prosecution of the war. The issue over techniques does not lie between governments and agencies of communications, but between governments and the governed, with the agencies of communication striving to serve their common interest. There is no substitute for facts in performing the government's obligation to keep its citizens informed concerning the progress of their war—carefully detailed facts leaving no possibility of misunderstanding.

News Behind the News

Indications Seen That Stalin May Be Overplaying His Hand.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 16 — Signs that Stalin is overplaying his hand in world affairs are evident behind the daily news.

His comrades in Italy have been cawing against the king and Badoglio, and the American government went along in quiet acquiescence against permanently establishing either. Yet Stalin now has come along and granted Badoglio an apparent permanency of recognition as a government by exchanging ambassadors.

In the long and similar French political difficulties, Stalin granted the French Committee of Liberation a diplomatic recognition which similarly implied permanency of leadership in establishing a French government, although the British and state department declined to go that far.

These two events (not to mention Poland, Czechoslovakia, etc.) present on their face an intent by Russia to set up her own regimes in Europe. These regimes presumably are not to be mutually acceptable, but represent Stalin's choice for the post war world.

What we want for those countries is a democracy in which all classes of people are represented in a free government. What Stalin seems to want is someone he can control or someone who will side with him.

Delicate Matter

The matter is delicate because of Russia's great contribution to the war. Officials here hesitate to speak out for military and propaganda reasons. But the situation is coming to a head.

It is no longer sensible to pretend we will stand for her establishing a separate European hegemony. If our officials did, our people would not indorse it. Nor is it wise for officials to keep their own fearful silence indefinitely in this matter. Stalin is using this very fear and hesitancy to proceed with his own establishments.

The American position is clear to me—and incontestibly right. In Italy, there are a great many political classes other than the Communists. The Reds compose a very small minority. We would be losing what we are fighting this war for, if we allowed them to rule Italy or to control it by diplomatic ties.

So also in France. Many individuals escaped and founded cliques, the most active of which was a Communist or allied left-leaning minority. These cliques do not represent the people of France. If domination of the country is left to any of these escaped politicians, the war for France will have been lost.

If Stalin is setting out to rule Europe or the world by these means, he will find the great majority of the people of the world are not naturally amenable to Communism.

Russia and China

For instance, the matter of Russia and China. Politically, they are quite close together. But the civilization of China makes her a much better natural friend of the United States.

The fundamental Chinese philosophy is much closer to Christian ideals than it is to Marx. It has roots in the family and in the doctrine of benevolence, as opposed to the Russian philosophy of conscienceless freedom from every ideal but the state.

Put Confucius beside Marx and you will realize their insurmountable conflict. Politically, Russia and China have been close because they both considered themselves outsiders, but ideologically, China is our friend.

Mr. Roosevelt's announcement that Stalin had asked for one-third of the Italian fleet, and would be given it (although Russia did not participate in its capture) implies a desire in Washington to overlook Stalin's moves as those of a wayward brother, whose heart is nevertheless in the right place.

Mr. Churchill, however, appears to have blocked the Italian fleet gift, for the time at any rate, and the latest heard in the news is that some American ships would be given Russia instead.

The question between Washington and London, therefore, is how to meet Stalin's rising demands—and the question between them both and Moscow is how long is a world peace going to last on the basis Stalin is working.

National C. of C. President's Talk Seen as Sample of Thinking Needed for Future.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN at least two respects Eric Johnston's speech at Boston university had a different sound from a great many other speeches. He was able to tell the labor leaders the homely truth and to give them some very good advice without being self-righteous about it.

As president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, he had the grace and the plain humanity to tell them that management had its faults—and morally they were the same faults—as labor. Thus he tried to speak the whole truth, not just that side of it he happened to be directly identified with.

And speaking the whole truth, he was more than the advocate of management. He was a citizen, a man concerned with solving a problem and not solely with winning his case. What he said was, therefore, persuasive; it was capable of making men think and change their minds because he himself showed that he had thought and had changed his own mind.

If only this could become a fashion in public speech, how different would be the coming campaign and how much more adult, how much saner, our public life. For we are cursed with the endless declamations of men who charge, accuse, berate, defend, but never seek to persuade.

Most Folks One-Sided

Only too rarely do we hear citizens discussing the state of the nation, humbly looking for truth and earnestly seeking the light. The air is loud with the shrill voices of men who see only the good in their own case and only the error in the other man's.

Johnston was unusual in another respect. He is an opponent of the New Deal who has not forgotten the 2 years that preceded it and led up to the New Deal. This, it seems to me, is the acid test of an intelligent conservative—that he should not for one moment allow himself to be intoxicated with the notion that if it were not for Roosevelt and the New Deal we should restore happily and successfully and lastingly an economy of free enterprise. Johnston knows better.

"From 1921 to 1930 we had everything all our own way, a friendly administration in Washington, a friendly public," and from it the country got "a balloon boom that had to burst."

Surely, if after the war free enterprise is not only to be restored but to remain restored, it will be because business men start thinking where Johnston has started, and then insist that the politicians who set up to be their best friends start their thinking there, too. For if business men miss this chance which is going to be given them, they are not likely ever to get another chance.

In 1921 and thereafter they were led through illusion to a disaster by politicians who promised them normalcy. What Harding and his successors meant by normalcy was the world as it had been, and the conditions of business as they were in the time of McKinley.

Needs for Future

That world and those conditions had passed away forever. It was as impossible to return to them as it was to bring Queen Victoria to life and to enjoy again the effortless security of the 19th century. The Republicans of the '20s who did not know this led the country to the catastrophe which produced the New Deal.

Though Franklin Roosevelt has been in the White House what seems a lifetime, as a matter of fact he was put there by an election in 1932 when the country was looking for someone to save it from the abnormal consequence of 12 years of Republican normalcy. Therefore, it makes a true conservative shiver when he hears so many Republican voices

The Problems of Lasting Peace

Nationalism and Peace

WE have stated that nationalism is perhaps the most potent of international forces with which peace making must deal. Nationalism gathers from a thousand springs of common race with its common language, religion, folklore, traditions, literature, art, music, beliefs, habits, modes of expression, hates fears, ideals, and tribal loyalties. It expresses itself in patriotism.

From all these racial instincts and mores rises the eternal yearning for independence from foreign domination. All the thousands of years of human history are punctuated by wars of independence. The subjection of races is one of the most potent of all causes of war.

Nationalism will not be stilled by war. It is fired to greater heat by every defeat and every victory and every peace making.

Extreme nationalism does have liabilities to peace and progress. As among individuals, there are ambitions in races for glory and for power of the race. Dignity, honor, and the aggrandizement of his country is a satisfaction to the individual. To gain a place in the sun is an inspiring call to a nation. Nationalism can readily expand into dangerous forms—greed in exploitation of the resources and foreign trade of other peoples and in aggression which quickly runs into imperialism.

The values of nationalism cannot be ignored because of its secondary evils. It inspires independence, fredom, spiritual unity, pride of country, constructive rivalry, the building of national cultures. It brings great gifts to civilization.

We must recognize the realistic fact that nationalism will continue as long as emotional beings inhabit this earth and will have to be embraced in any plan to preserve the peace. The nationalist spirit is obviously rising with this war as it does in every war. Our problems will be to curb its excesses, yet maintain its values.

We Americans are not impressed by the idea that America has grown great by the benevolence of any other government. In 300 years our people have independently forged new concepts of life. We have departed greatly in our thinking from the many nations from which we sprang. And we have attended to our own defense.

Other nations, also from their traditions, their trials and their triumphs have developed a nationalism which runs no less deeply than our own. They too feel more than geography in their words — "Britain," "Russia," "France," "Belgium," "Poland." They are equally proud of their countries. They are equally determined to die if need be to maintain their independence.

IN PROOF of all this many of the United Nations have already proclaimed nationalistic objectives for which they are fighting. It must be obvious that at least the other great centers of power — Russia, Britain and China—have no intention of surrendering either their independence or part of their sovereignty. Mr. Stalin has not hesitated to indicate with positive frankness territorial expansion for Russia over previously independent peoples. Mr. Churchill has stated categorically that the British Empire will not be liquidated notwithstanding critics in the United States. Mr. Chiang Kai-shek has been unhesitating in stating that China will restore her ancient boundaries with all foreign squatters evicted. Holland says she will recover her colonies.

Sixteen nations enslaved by our enemies are trusting in the assurance of the Atlantic Charter, that "sovereign rights and self-government be restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them." And other submerged peoples are clamoring for freedom and sovereignty to govern themselves.

We suggest that American policies of peace should not surrender the independence of the United States; that peace must be built upon the collaboration of free nations.

We Americans have unceasingly supported the efforts of nations to secure and hold their independence. Believing in our own right of independence, we have held for it in others. And we have believed that self-governing peoples made for peace

We suggest that our American policies for peace and our pledges in this war demand the independence of the Norwegians, the French, the Danes, the Finns, the Estonians, the Latvians, the Lithuanians, the Poles, the Czechs, the Slovaks, the Austrians, the Slovenes, the Croats, the Serbs, the Greeks, the Albanians, the Dutch, the Belgians, the Luxemburgers, the Koreans, the Ethiopians, the Persians, the Arabs, the Siamese, and the Filipinos. We cannot in ideals or policy or conscience abandon any of them.

Two other growths of nationalism or racial consciousness have marked these very recent years which may modify the world. Russia has abandoned the anti-nationalistic phase of communism and fought this war under the vivid emotions of nationalism defending "the sacred soil of Russia." And that spirit may carry on into the realms of national expansion.

ANOTHER form of these emotions has been fanned by Japan by the cry of "Asia for the Asiatics." What influence this has had upon the peoples of India, Burma, Indo-China, the Malaya States and the Dutch Indies is not yet clear. In any event, with their own backgrounds of independence and the awakening spirit of selfgovernment these people are demanding a wider measure of independennce. Their yearnings may be satisfied with dominion status and at least the sympathies of the United States must be with them.

Bitter experience for a hundred years shows that European mixed areas are a constant source of war.

We suggest that in American policies consideration should be given even to the heroic remedy of transfer of populations in some extreme cases.

A still larger question of nationalism will arise in connection with Germany. And in Germany we do not include Austria which we discuss a little later.

There is a widespread feeling that a united Germany constitutes a menace to peace and that the obvious solution lies in dividing —at least isolating the Prussians who have provided the motive power for repeated aggressions.

Before committing ourselves to such a course we should try to satisfy ourselves as to whether it is realistic. Any survey of the history of Europe will show that, in its periodic defeats, Germany has been dismembered into separate states. The Germans, like all virile races, are cohesive. The incubation of movements for unity has usually exploded a European war.

We suggest that as an American policy of lasting peace that German unity must be preserved.

Irvin S. Cobb

Lucky Accident of Friendship Gave Us Ringside Seat During His Rise to Literary Fortune.

By DAMON RUNYON

I WAS a rookie baseball reporter just arrived in New York City and the late Irvin Shrewsbury Cobb was a rewrite man on The Evening World when we first met in the press box at the Polo Grounds.

He was no ordinary rewrite man. He was a famous rewrite man, one of Charley Chapin's staff stars, a group that also included Martin Green, Lindsay Denison and Bob Ritchey. He was reported to receive what I thought the positively fantastic salary of $90 a week.

Besides, he had just sold a short story to George Horace Lorimer of The Saturday Evening Post—it may have been "An Incident Up A Side Street"—and was pointed as a literary comer, though he was still too dubious about the possibility of literature to give up his regular job.

His pal in those days was the baseball writer on The Evening World, Bozeman Bulger, whose southern accent rivalled Cobb's. Bulger had taken me under his wing, hence my subsequent association with Cobb. He used to spend his days-off in the press box and vie with Bulger in telling Negro stories and in letting out bellows of laughter at their own jokes.

I WAS practically an eyewitness to Cobb's rise to fame. He kept us informed of each successive step that took him out of the newspaper game and into the literary field and on to the lecture platform. We rejoiced with him over each advancement. In passing, I would like to repeat what I have often said, that Cobb was one of our greatest newspaper reporters in a great newspaper era, though his Park Row fame was long obscured by his literary triumphs.

Even after he was a figure in a more effete circle than ours he maintained his association with the baseball crowd. He was one of a number of us who acquired a pot-bellied ole boat in which we voyaged out of Seaford on Long Island, fishing in the sound in summer and shooting shore birds in the fall and ducks and geese in winter.

We would sleep and eat on the boat and sometimes get frozen in by the ice for days at a time, but Cobb was always all the entertainment we needed. He seemed to have an absolutely inexhaustible fund of stories. I never knew him to be unavailable for a hunting trip, and I do not think it was because of any great love of the chase. I think it was because he enjoyed male companionship and the life of camps.

HE WAS at his best in boots and canvas clothing before a roaring fire in the woods surrounded by hairy-chested guys who could eat and drink in quantity. I think in those days Cobb was the greatest single-handed trencherman alive. He was particularly fond of game of all kinds. Eating and talking were his hobbies, then. I saw little of him after he left New York for California years ago and he may have changed.

We used to go, too, on long hunting trips into Nova Scotia after moose, but we agreed that the quarry looked too sad to make this pursuit any fun. Then our baseball coterie acquired a shooting preserve in Georgia not far from Brunswick called Doverhall, where Cobb was always the center of attraction during his sojourns. He liked it best there when Uncle Wilbert Robinson and Joe Kelly, both ole Baltimore Orioles, were there, and Babe Ruth and Boze Bulger and Bill McBeth and Cap Hilton and Bill McGeehan and Frank Stevens. They had tastes in common and spoke the same language.

Like the great English writer of humorous short stories, W. W. Jacobs, Cobb was a master of the semi-horror story whenever he wished to exert that talent. "Fishhead," in my opinion, is a classic, yet Lorimer would not buy it for The Post because of its gruesomeness. Cobb's old pal, Bob Davis, finally took it over for one of the Munsey magazines under protest, saying he knew it was a great story but was not sure it should be printed.

Time

By Truman Twill

As this piece is being tapped out it is 1100 o'clock of a sunny winter morning. The correspondent climbed out of bed this same morning at 0715, with the emphasis on the 0, due to the fact the book he was reading had kept him up until 2400 the night before, when he should have corked off at 2230. With a little management, it may be possible to get home at 1630 this afternoon and snooze on the davenport until 1745 before pulling up at the table at 1800 sharp.

This is the way we may tell time after the war if 10 million-odd returning service men and women insist on doing it the military way, to which they have grown accustomed. We shall do away with a. m. and p. m. and put time on a 24-hour schedule. Noon will be 1200, one hour after noon it will be 1300, and so on till it gets to be 2400. Extra minutes will be indicated, if any, in the last two digits—1630 for the present 4:30 p. m. and so on.

This is far and away the meatiest post-war possibility the brave new world planners have sunk their sharp teeth in yet. We are not thinking so much of the effect on our customs of telling time, as of the effect on the time-telling industry. It would make obsolete overnight every public clock in the land. Replacing them would keep several million workmen busy for a couple of years. Think of time tables. Think of the revision of almanacs.

Every timepiece now in a pocket or on a wrist would have to be put away for a keepsake. The Christmas present and birthday present problem for years to come would be solved. Think of the watches already in drydock. For generations, they have been gumming up new sales. There is probably, for every watch already in use, one more watch lying in a drawer waiting for a minor repair job to make it usable.

At this minute—1115—there are in the Twillery five timepieces whose location is known and a sixth which has eluded searchers for years, yet not one of them is in running order. At the same time, not a single Twill is in the market for a timepiece because in theory he already has one. It watches were changed, however, to tell time on a 24-hour basis (probably with new dials bearing figures above 12 inside the familiar circle of figures up to 12) all the Twills would be back in the market. It's hard to think of a slicker way to make people part with their money, which as we get it so far is the main aim of post-war planning.

So They Say—

When I see 4-F's playing football and baseball and doing all the other things that require physical strength and endurance, I can't be very much impressed with the standards under which they are exempted from service. —Sen. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado.

GOLD-BASED FOREIGN EXCHANGE PLAN SEEN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—complete agreement [illegible] Russian, British, American, Canadian treasury experts on a multi-billion dollar fund to stabilize foreign exchange was imminent today.

Belief followed the disclosure that conversations have been in progress here with British officials while a Russian delegation was being acquainted with the so-called white currency stabilization plan.

An official who told of the new Anglo-American talks said one more meeting was expected to eliminate the final point at issue, described as a minor one.

Heretofore the White (American) and Keynes (British) plans have been at wide variance as to whether gold should play a leading or subordinate role in balancing international trade.

Harry D. White, treasury monetary expert, proposed an $8,000,000,000 fund to be made up of gold and local currency contributions of participating nations. Lord Keynes, Bank of England director and economic adviser to the British exchequer, suggested instead a clearing house arrangement without original assets and using a quota system based on foreign trade volume.

It was known to the British as well as to the Americans that Russia, as a major gold holder, regarded the White plan as the more acceptable of the two. This Russian attitude was believed to have clinched British capitulation to American views.

Canada already has drafted its own plan, strikingly similar to the latest White proposal.

A treasury official said he expected a couple more Russo-American conversations before the state department issues formal invitations to an international monetary conference.

AT SENATE INQUIRY. Pictured as he testified at a Senate Truman Committee hearing in Washington, D. C., investigating Liberty ship crackups, is Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union. The union leader praised the Liberty ships as sound cargo vessels.

Marion Soldier's Letter Praises Red Cross Kits

A newspaper clipping published in Brookfield, Conn., which found its way to a Marion soldier in foreign service and back to Marion expressed appreciation of the work of the Red Cross. The newspaper article quoted a letter written by Sgt. Gerald Miller of Marion, acknowledging the receipt of handy kits made by women of the Brookfield branch of the Red Cross at Brookfield, Conn., and stating that even if some of the boys do not acknowledge the gift they all appreciate them. Accompanying the clipping was a letter expressing the pleasure of the chapter members in being able to be of some help to the men in service. The clipping and letter were sent by Sgt. Miller to his mother Mrs. Bertha Arnold of 180 Bain avenue. He entered the service March 23, 1942 and was with the armed forces in Africa before going to England where he is now stationed.

MacArthur's Popularity Gaining in Australia

CANBERRA, Australia, March 16—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, allied commander-in-chief in the southwest Pacific, today won high praise from Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin.

In a broadcast arranged by the U. S. office of war information in honor of the second anniversary of MacArthur's arrival in Australia from Bataan, Curtin said:

"The name 'MacArthur' stands even higher today in Australia than two years ago, when his arrival provided such a tonic to our people who, while unafraid of what might be in store for them, were nevertheless greatly encouraged by what it meant for Australia in fighting men and supplies from America."

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A platform which consist of not being New Deal may be enough to elect the Republicans in 1944. But it does not begin to be enough to keep them in office if they are elected. Nor is it enough to conserve the real interests of business and of the economy of free enterprise. That will take a lot more constructive thinking and doing than is contained in berating the New Deal, the bureaucrats and regimentation.

From where I sit ...

by Joe Marsh

You hear a lot of talk about morale these days ... but have you found many people who knew exactly what "morale" was?

Well, I was thumbing through my scrap book the other day, and I came on this verse I'd like to pass on to you ...

It's the lift you get from a friendly smile ...
A brand new hat in a jaunty style ...
A letter from home that the postman brings ...
Morale is a lot of little things.

Isn't it so? Morale is just a lot of little things. A flower in your button hole, a word of greeting, an occasional refreshing glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, if we take care to preserve these little friendly things that boost morale, we'll be doing a lot to help our country in its time of crisis.

And we'll boost morale among our soldiers at the front, too. Because it's these "important little things" that they look forward to returning to.

CHRISTIANS' MISSION

The Star: It seems though the oppnents ives to be held in theater Holy Week taken idea of the Christianity and the e mission of Christ carry the Gospel to world, beginning at do that, they must go people are. Jesus where he could find —in the synagogue, on in the house of the and even in the houses publicans and sinners. ized for this, He said, that are whole have no physician, but they sick." "I came not to righteous, but sinners repentance." "The Son of Man seek and to save those are lost."

His last command was, "Go ye therefore and make Disciples of the nations, teaching them to observe all things I have commanded you." Paul taught in the market places, in schools, and even in the shadow of the Acropolis on Mars Hill. Down through the Ages people have worshipped God in all kinds of buildings, many times in no building at all. The only word in the New Testament translated Church has no reference to a building, but means "Those called together," or through the Latin, a congregation. In Matthew 18:20, Jesus says, "For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the midst of them."

The men who planned and will conduct these services are consecrated Christians who desire to carry the Gospel to many who will not go to the Churches. There will be church services almost every night from now until Easter, and on Good Friday, in some church for those who do not care to assist or support the Holy Week theater services. But let all be careful lest they hinder instead of help the work of God in our community.

H. R. ALLEGOOD,

"THERE AM I"

Editor of The Star: I would like to answer a few people that have been finding fault with the "Marion Theater" as a meeting place, for the Holy Week service. And also in defense of our movie stars, that have been so generous in trying to help win the war, giving their money, time and lives. I am thankful that we have such wonderful pictures brought home to us and for the small sum of 30 cents we can enjoy living for a few hours which we would otherwise miss. I am glad that I have a religion that I can go in a theater, sit quietly down, and look at a picture and not feel condemned. The most wonderful portrayal of the Bible I ever saw was at the Palace theater about 10 years ago. I would not have missed it for anything, and I expect to meet a number of movie stars in heaven. And to close, I will refer you to St. Matthew, 18th chapter, 20th verse: "For where two or three, are gathered together, in my Name there am I in the midst of them."

AN OLD LADY.

GRATEFUL FOR FREE SPEECH

Editor of The Star: Since there is much protesting being made over the Holy Week services in a theater, I am about to voice my opinion, and thank God that we are able to voice our opinion in this favored nation. As we all now know, sinner and Christian alike, our ministers are the "called out" ones, to preach God's word to the lost peoples of this world. Not only do they, the ministers, lead the people, but should live as an example for the people. I say away with compromising weak-backed preachers who stoop low enough to attend sinful entertainment. I believe if we, who name Christ as our saviour, furnish the backbone God will furnish the grace. For in Timothy 6:6 it says, "but, Godliness with contentment is great gain." What is wrong when ministers have to attend the theater? Aren't they contented serving God and leading poor sin-sick folk to Christ? The reason I am writing this is that this issue dicussed today about using the theater for services, is that this is not the first time the theater has had the chance of lursing socalled Christians in its doors. Remember, you who have attended these places, but are now born again Christians, how the "Ten Commandments", a film was shown several years ago? Now the cast in that show were no doubt sinful Hollywood folk who are an adulteress lot of people. Can you conceive folk like that portraying Bible characters? I can't, nor can I imagine the cast who gave the "Passion Play" at one of our schools doing it either. The only part taken that was fitting was the part of Judas, who betrayed our Saviour. Shame on him, and shame on some of our preachers who attended this play. The school was alright, and the play too for folk who had no ideas on who acted it out, but I again say, shame on the ministers who attended. I happen to know that tickets were sent free to the ministers who would use them. Thank God for the men who sent the tickets back. I heard one minister from his pulpit say how thrilled he was at the realness of the crucifixion when the drums rolled the thunder and the stage darkened as Christ (whoever acted it out) died on the cross. Shame on him for getting such a thrill and perhaps a blessing, had he opened up his Bible and saw revealed in the Scripture the agony of our Christ. I again, say, praise God for men who will not compromise with sinful worldly indulgences, and praise God for those who name Christ as their saviour, who won't compromise with sin. This letter I am writing means that I as a Christian am sick and tired of wishy washy back boneless folk who are stumbling around as Christians. Now that the church folk and redeemed of God are protesting this sinful suggestion of going to the show to worship God, I say keep on protesting sin.

There are roundtable discussions on "Juvenile delinquency" when the seat of the trouble should be routed out in the open. It should be called "Adult" delinquency, for there is where the trouble lies. Line up old ones, and our young ones will do better. Ephesians 5:20 says to give thanks to God for all things." Be sure the "all things" are pleasing God. Come on redeemed of the Lord, assert yourselves. "One who lives 365 days per year for Christ."

Home Mortgages Help Reduce Income Taxes

Among the allowable deductions from personal income taxes are interest on home mortgages and real estate taxes. On the average balance, these two items will amount to from $150 to $200 per year. With income taxes at approximately 20% of net income the saving would easily be enough to make one monthly payment on your indebtedness.

Rent for living quarters is not deductible, therefore home ownership has a distinct financial advantage from this standpoint alone.

FEBRUARY SALVAGE TOTALS ANNOUNCED

Waste Paper Collection in County 214,331 Pounds.

A total of 214,331 pounds of waste paper gathered throughout Marion and Marion county in February was reported by George Alber, head of the county war salvage committee today. The amount of 44,430 pounds brought in by schools of the county helped to swell the figures to the "successful" total.

Carrying out of the paper scrap drive was "a job well done," Mr. Alber declared and announced that another drive will be made in the near future for paper scrap, the "No. 1 critical shortage of the war." He warned, "Begin saving your scrap paper now for the next drive." Some paper from the February drive remains to be loaded and shipped out for war purposes.

The amount of scrap metals weighed in during February was 342 tons, Mr. Alber reported, and the total amount of tin was 32,000 pounds. The aggregate totals for January and February were 995 tons of metals, 650 tons in January; 358,331 pounds of paper, 144,000 for January and 32,000 pounds of tin. . .

"I WAS CONSTIPATED FOR MANY YEARS!"

Now I'm 'Regular' Every Morning!"

Constipated? Then here's an unsolicited letter you'll want to read: "I'd been troubled with common constipation for many years. Was taking laxatives and pills all the time, and feeling very weak and run down. 3 months ago, I began eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily. Now, I have a regular, natural movement every morning, which helps me feel my best!" Mr. Samuel D. Blank, 292 Kings Highway, Brooklyn, New York.

What is this seeming magic of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN? Scientists say it's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation — namely, lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements, which help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't work by "sweeping out." It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find lasting relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

SUSPENSION FACED BY FORD STRIKERS

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, March 16 — Faced with the possibility of further suspensions of its members from their jobs at the Ford Motor Co. Rouge plant, local 600 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) today announced, through its officials, it would offer "no defense" for those found responsible for yesterday's blockade at the plant gates.

The indefinite suspension of 50 employes was announced late last night, following developments growing out of the blockade.

First, the company appealed to Governor Harry F. Kelly for state police protection at the plant, claiming police in suburban Dearborn, where the plant is located, were "either unwilling or fearful" to remove the blockade.

R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW-CIO, termed the appeal "inflamatory and highly prejudicial to the maintaining of smooth relations between worker and employer at the plant."

Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn declared "if the company hasn't the talent or the ability to get along decently and peacefully with its employes it should not attempt to raise a smoke-screen by blaming the Dearborn police for its troubles."

Both Thomas and W. T. Grant, newly-elected president of Ford local 600, said they were investigating the new suspensions along with ten others and ten discharges resulting from a demonstration and unauthorized strike in the aircraft engine plant last week.

Production Still Halted at Ohio Steel Plant

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 16—Production remained at a standstill today at the American Works of the American Steel & Wire Co. after CIO United Steelworkers ignored a recommendation by Mayor Frank J. Lausche's war production committee that the unionists end their walkout and negotiate disputed issues.

The stoppage started Monday when members of the cleaning house crew became dissatisfied with the standby rate.

William F. Donovan, district director of the Steelworkers Union, has termed the walkout unauthorized.

BALL URGES PROMPT U. S. FOREIGN POLICY

By The Associated Press

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March 16 —Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R-Minn) urges immediate establishment of a world organization, democratically controlled, to secure, he says, a just peace and prevent future aggression.

"The present administration has no foreign policy if it is willing to tell the people about," Ball declared at a banquet last night of the Kalamazoo county Lincoln Republican club.

The Minnesotan demanded that the United States "begin at once to fight in the field of diplomacy for the same ideals of peace and security our boys are fighting for on the battlefields."

He added, "it begins to look more and more as if we were drifting into a postwar world in which spheres of influence and imperialism will play the same old parts, setting the stage for World War III."

Ball warned it is possible for the Republicans to lose in the November elections, and said they would unless the party adopted a forthright foreign policy plank telling the people just what the postwar world would be like if the party is victorious.

Y's Men's Service Group Works on New Club Co-Ed Quarters

Members of the Y's Men's Service club helped put polish on the new Club Co-Ed room at the Y. M. C. A. after their business meeting last night. Floors were sanded, the soda fountain installed and walls cleaned at last night's work session. Carpenters and electricians are meanwhile doing their part of the work. Club members will be called two more nights to complete their portion of work on the rooms.

Next Monday night members will start work at 7:30. Wednesday night will be the last opportunity for club members to assist on renovation of the room. Painters will be especially welcome at the next two work nights as most work remaining to be done by non-professional hands is in that line. Old clothes are the order of the day for those wishing to help.

The opening date for the new club room is still indefinite as needed supplies have been difficult to find and slow in arrival. Electricians will be working on installations after members of the club have completed their part of the project.

At Harding High school members of the Club Co-ed board of directors have made new rules governing the club including a reduced membership fee. Club activities have been centered around Friday nights, but it is believed the new rooms will be open some other nights during the week. William Luse is chairman of the Y's Men's Service club project and Vivian Loyer is chairman of the student board of directors.

Report of Auto Output Is Branded as False

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — A war production board spokesman yesterday branded as "absolutely wrong" a report of an official of the National Automobile Dealers' association that limited production of passenger automobiles would be begun by September.

"There are no such programs or plans," the spokesman said. "The production of passenger cars will not be in sight for a long time."

Ray Chamberlain, executive vice president of the dealers' organization, had said in New York that partial production would be undertaken to fill the needs of essential civilian drivers, with the first few models probably reaching the market by July of next year.

PENICILLIN TANK—This is one of the first 2,500-gallon tanks built at St. Louis for production of the new wonder drug penicillin in large quantities.

U. S. FIRST TO DIVE BOMBERS

Idea Originally Tried Out in Haiti by Marine Lieutenant.

By International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Twenty years ago in Haiti, an ingenious Marine lieutenant put his plane into a dive and released a bomb which had been tied in a flour sack to his undercarriage, and with that was born the modern technique of dive bombing, perfected to its deadliest technique in World War II.

The man who conceived this type of aerial warfare, which has become so familiar to millions, is Lawson H. Sanderson, today a Marine colonel in charge of the Leatherneck air base at Santa Barbara, Cal.

German Developed Idea

To Sanderson goes credit for a technique borrowed and embellished, and then demonstrated to deadly perfection by German Stukas over Rotterdam and Warsaw early in the current war.

It was dissatisfaction with the process of merely dumping his missles over the side of the plane that led the Leatherneck officer to make the discovery that revolutionized aerial warfare.

This method of dropping a bomb from the hands of the pilot with only a prayer for accuracy is a far cry from the present-day technique of hurtling the bomb on its destructive mission, after mathematically precise calculations are made as to position and wind drift through means of a precision bomb sight.

Experiment a Success

Colonel Sanderson in explaining his experiment in the Haitian jungle, declared:

"We figured that if we pointed the ship in the direction of the target, the bomb would have to keep traveling in the same direction and we would get better accuracy. The question was how to release the bomb."

Fastening the closed end of an ordinary flour sack to the undercarriage of his plane the young lieutenant slipped a bomb into the bag and secured the open end forward. A simple form of release was contrived that opened the sack and allowed the bomb to slip forward.

"On our next hop," the colonel recalled, "We found the 'enemy' and went into a dive. The release worked and we considered the experiment a success. It was like shaking a cat out of a bag but it was more accurate than horizontal bombing."

Watched by German Ace

The late German ace, Ernest Udet, observed and reported the technique following a demonstration at an air show a few years later.

Col. Sanderson's colorful career in Marine aviation has ranged from setting world air speed records to combat in foreign lands. In 1923, after finishing third in the Pulitzer Prize races at St. Louis, he set a world's speed record of 287 miles an hour — a healthy clip in those days.

When the Marines opened their offensive on Guadalcanal, Sanderson was operations officer at the First Marine Air Wing which carried the brunt of the fighting for several months.

A native of Missoula, Mont., the Colonel was a letterman in football, basketball, and track at the University of Montana.

Among his decorations are the distinguished Flying Cross, the Legion of Merit, Medal Militaire (Haiti and Nicaragua) and the presidential unit citation for service at Guadalcanal.

REPORTS JAP TANKS ARE POORLY MADE

By CLINTON GREEN

International News Correspondence

A CENTRAL PACIFIC ARMY BASE—The Japanese idea of a tank is okay for driving "but not for fighting," according to Corp. Vincent E. Ford, 28, of Mt. Kisco, N. Y.

A Japanese tank was captured by American forces in the invasion of the Gilberts last November. It was made in 1942 at the Sagami Army arsenal in Japan and most of the small parts were "hand scratched"; that is, they were not run off on machines.

Everything Copied

The Japs, never known for doing anything original, used ideas and designs from just about every one in manufacturing the vehicle.

The gun mounts were made in Germany and bear the markings of a Nazi manufacturer; the machine guns are an adaptation of the British Bren machine gun; the upper silhouette resembles the old World War French Renault; and the fenders rattle like those of an old model T Ford.

Engine a Good One

A good in-line Diesel engine, which burns unrefined fuel, powers the tank. However, it is about the only part of the vehicle considered efficient by Army technicians.

The only way for a Japanese infantry man to get in touch with the crew is to push a button on the outside of the tank. There is no radio. The gun turret operates by hand; the armor is not considered thick enough to stop a .30 calibre armor piercing bullet.

Capt. Donald M. Brattain, of Washington, D. C., took charge of the tank when it arrived from Makin. His first problem was to find an American tank man small enough to get into the cramped, pinching quarters.

A Regular Mantrap

That's where Corporal Ford came into the picture. He could make it.

Ford drives the tank around for American soldiers in training. Recently, he displayed it for an infantry outfit. The colonel of the outfit asked Ford how he would like to take the tank into battle. "I'd rather be in the infantry with you," Ford responded.

Marysville Firm Sued in Price Ceiling Case

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 16 — Charging they had exceeded ceiling prices from Feb. 1 to Aug. 31, 1943, the office of price administration yesterday filed suit against two castings manufacturers in federal court here, asking triple damages.

The companies involved were the National Brass Manufacturing company of Bellefontaine, sued for $9,687 and the H. D. Salter Manufacturing company of Marysville for $45,609.

POWDER PIONEERS

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE — An invention outmoded by modern safety precautions was salvaged for scrap metal from the Sycamore Powder plant near Ashland City, Tenn., which produced explosives from 1834 to 1904.

W. C. Jackson, son of a former superintendent of the mill, said that explosions on the powder line occurred so frequently that roofs were made in two hinged sections. When there was an explosion, the roof sections could be folded into place.

Preview of Spring Sends Mercury to 75 in Marion

Marionites turned their thoughts to victory gardens, lawnmower sharpening, winter germ-ousting and other spring chores yesterday when thermometers took an upward trend. In some parts of the state heat records were broken, according to an Associated Press dispatch, and in Marion the official high was 75. It's a different story today with rain and "much colder" weather predicted for tonight.

March temperatures have soared higher in Marion, records of previous years show. Highest reading for March 1907 was 83, and this was topped in 1910 with 85 degrees. In 1921 the high for the month was 84.

At least three March 15 heat records were broken in Ohio and others equalled as the mercury soared during the day. In Columbus a street-level thermometer recorded an unofficial 87 at 2 p. m. The official reading was 10 degrees lower. The previous high for the date was 72 in 1935.

WILLIAM G. STAIR DIES IN COLUMBUS

Former City and County Employe Is Stricken.

William G. Stair, 33, of Columbus, a former resident of Marion, died at 11:30 a. m. today in White Cross hospital in that city, following an illness of two weeks. Complications resulting from an operation performed in St. Anthony hospital caused his death.

Mr. Stair was born in Marion and would have been 34 years old on March 29. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Gordon Stair of East Center street. His marriage was to Miss Louise Ryder of Marion, five years ago. She survives with his father and brother, Robert of East Center street. Mr. and Mrs. Stair and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ryder, also former residents of Marion, moved to Columbus three years ago. Their home is at 900 South Roosevelt street in Bexley.

Mr. Stair was graduated from Harding High school and prior to moving to Columbus, where he was a draftsman with the Curtiss Wright Corp., he was employed in the county engineer's office and also at the Marion sewage treatment plant as an engineer. He was a member of the Broad Street Presbyterian church.

The body is at the Moody-Straley funeral home on East Main street in Bexley.

appearances in court. One 17-year-old who was reported to have had a hand in several of the crimes charged to the group was given an indefinite sentence in the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster. The other, a 16-year-old who figured in only one incident, was released to his parents on probation.

The crime wave was smashed through the combined efforts of the city police, sheriff's office and highway patrolmen after the seven allegedly had completed an active 18 days of criminal offenses which included automobile thefts, burglaries, burning of one automobile and destruction of rural mail boxes.

The first arrests were made Friday night with two of the gang being captured later in Waverly, O, after they had escaped authorities and driven that far in one of the stolen cars. All seven were rounded up by Sunday night.

LABOR HIRE

tice, but said one of them, operating plants in Chicago and New York, had realized in 1943 a profit of $4,240,988 on the wages of men it sent out to war industries.

The company billed New York plants for $2,511,874 and paid only $817,517 of that amount to the men it sent out.

"This company," Burton said, "bills for its services at a flat rate of so much per man-hour and assumes all expenses."

Other companies, he added, have billed employers for as much as $48 for the services of a skilled man for Sunday, although the worker received only a small part of it.

Many companies, Burton claimed, operate under "names which are often misleading" and pose as organizations formed to render engineering services. By employing all available craftsmen and technicians, he explained, they obtain a corner on the skilled labor market and are able to demand exorbitant prices for their services from manufacturers.

Burton emphasized the committee had no quarrel with legitimate concerns rendering engineering services but intended to "break up the racketeering practices of labor-renting groups which . . . profit at the expense of the taxpayers without aiding the war effort."

VOTE BILL UP TO PRESIDENT

Fate May Rest on Results of Poll of Governors Made by White House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — The service vote bill was headed for the White House today, and although there were some predictions it would be approved by President Roosevelt the final decision may rest on a presidential poll of governors.

The measure is designed to compromise federal and state ballot plan differences but it is heavily laden with state controls.

The original administration measure, scored by states' rights' adherents as a "bob-tailed" ballot, provided blank spaces for the writing in of choices for president and members of congress — no state officers.

Provision of Bill

The congressionally-approved measure—passed by the senate, 47 to 31 and by the house, 273 to 111—provides that the state ballots must be used by servicemen in the country. Abroad they may use the federal ballot, similar to home voting blanks, provided they applied for a state ballot by Sept. 1 and did not receive one by Oct. 1.

Another provision prompting the presidential poll—requires that a state governor must certify by July 14 that use of a federal ballot is valid under the laws of his state.

In an Associated Press check of the governors, approximately 30 replies have been received, 21 saying they had not yet received the President's message and could not comment until they had studied the question more thoroughly. Five indicated state legislation already provides for a service vote.

Information Requested

The President had asked them to inform him:

"(1) Whether the use of supplementary federal ballots provided by (the) bill is in your judgment, now authorized by the laws of your state, and

"(2) If the use of these ballots is not authorized by the laws of your state, whether in your judgment, if the bill becomes law, steps will be taken to enable you to certify prior to July 15 that the use of such ballots is authorized by the laws of your state."

Although Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) leader of the coalition which forced main points of the "states' rights" plan through congress over administration opposition said he did not believe the President would veto the bill because "then there will be no absentee voting at all," Rep. Halleck of Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional committee charged that the President was "still playing politics."

Five Ohioans Vote Against Measure

WASHINGTON, March 16 — Ohio's three Democratic congressmen and two Republican representatives opposed the compromise soldier vote bill as the house approved the measure yesterday. Rep. John Vorys of Columbus was absent. The state's other representatives favored the measure.

Democrats against the bill were Robert Crosser and Michael A. Feighan, both of Cleveland, and Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown. Republicans opposing were George Bender and Frances Bolton, both of Cleveland.

GUNNERS BRIEFED FOR BERLIN RAID. Gunners who were soon to protect Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers from enemy fighters during the large-scale raid over Berlin on March 8, are briefed on their job somewhere in England before take-off of the huge U. CHOOSE DELEGATES IN NORTH CAROLINA

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — Selection of delegates to the Republican national convention shifted from New England to the south today as a North Carolina convention met to approve a 25-man slate and to pass on a resolution asking Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to become an open candidate for the presidential nomination.

The New York governor, willingly or not, picked up the party's first pledged 1944 convention delegates in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary, winning two of the state's 11. Nine are unpledged, but supporters of Wendell Willkie claim six of them.

Dewey and Willkie are expected by Republican politicians here to have more delegates pledged to them by nominating time than any other candidate, but not enough at the outset to win.

State Chairman Sim A. DeLapp said sentiment among North Carolina Republicans was "overwhelming" for Dewey, even if the state delegation is not instructed for the New Yorker.

Lieut. Gov. Joe R. Hanley of New York was invited to deliver the keynote speech at the Charlotte meeting. Hanley would succeed Dewey as governor if the latter became president.

Four years ago when North Carolina had 23 delegates, two were instructed for Senator Taft of Ohio, now supporting Gov. Bricker of Ohio, and 21 were uninstructed. Dewey got nine of the state's vote on the first national convention ballot, Taft seven, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan five, and Willkie two. Willkie gained on succeeding ballots until he got all 23.

New Hampshire's primary did not afford a clear-cut test of Willkie-Dewey strength, but supporters of both got comfort out of the results. The first big test will come in the Wisconsin primary April 4 where delegates are entered pledged to Willkie, Dewey, Lieut. Commander Harold E. Stassen and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Income Tax Paid?—Better Start Preparing for Next

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — Just a sobering reminder for this "morning after."

The federal income tax, having produced a record national headache, you may be consoling yourself today that "well, that's out of the way."

But if you're one of 15,000,000 among the nation's 50,000,000 income tax-payers, it's already time to start thinking about what you'll have to pay next month—by April 15.

These 15,000,000 persons will have to file declarations of estimated 1944 tax—and start paying (in many cases, the amount over and above what will be taken out of their earnings).

You're one of the 15,000,000 if:

1. You expect to have 1944 income of more than $2,700 if single, or $3,500 for a married couple. Or—

2. You expect to have outside income—in addition to wages or salaries subject to withholding under pay-as-you-go—of more than $100 this year. Or—

3. Your income isn't subject to the withholding tax.

(Note: Farmers may wait until next Dec. 15 to file declarations—but if they do, they'll have to pay the entire amount of estimated tax at that time.)

If you're in one of these classes, you probably filed such a declaration last September. The payment due next month, in an average case, will be something like the payments you made in September and December.

You won't get the new forms from the internal revenue bureau until at least next week — but you can get a rough idea of what you'll owe, in an average case, this way:

1. Take the amount you expect this year, subtract your personal exemption ($500 if single, $1,200 for a married couple, plus $350 for each dependent) and estimated deductions, and multiply the remainder—the taxable income—by 19 per cent. (If taxable income is more than $2,000, add 3 per cent of the amount over $2,000.)

2. From your estimated 1944 income, subtract the victory tax exemption of $24, and multiply the remainder by 3 per cent to get the victory tax.

3. Add the two taxes.

4. Subtract the amount you'll have taken out of your pay.

5. What's left is roughly what you'll owe, to be paid in four quarterly payments—April, June September and December.

When figuring deductions, remember that from now on you can't deduct federal excise taxes (on admissions, telephone and telegraph bills and railroad fares). The new law wiped out these deductions and the earned income credit formerly allowed in figuring the normal income tax.

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT SUED FOR DIVORCE

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 16 —Charging "unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct" by Col. Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the president, Mrs. Ruth Googins Roosevelt filed suit today in district court for divorce, custody of their three children and for one-half of their community property.

The petition set forth that she and Roosevelt, now with the Army Air forces in the European theater, separated "on or about Oct. 1, 1943," after their marriage on July 22, 1933.

Robert K. Hanger, Mrs. Roosevelt's attorney, said waivers of contest had already been sent to Roosevelt's APO address for his signature and that the petition would be a "routine divorce petition."

Married 11 years ago after their romance began during a rodeo and livestock show here, the Roosevelts have three children, Chandler, 9; Tony, 7, and David Boynton Roosevelt, 2.

RAID

rained two-ton blockbusters on that main junction in Hitler's Balkan rail network—now doubly vital for the German forces in Russia.

Dispatches from Naples said it was believed the railway was severed at least temporarily.

The record load of a single target—2,800 short tons—which was tossed on Berlin Feb. 15 was exceeded in the hammering of Stuttgart, a manufacturing center of ball bearings, Daimler-Benz engines and Bosch ignition and electrical appliances.

The force of 1,000 heavy bombers was exceeded by the United States armadas during the first of the all-out bombing spurt the last week in February, but it was doubtful if the Americans' bomb loan was as great as last night's considering that the Eighth air force was making a long haul to eastern Germany.

Stuttgart, visited by six major attacks, since the start of the war, also is one of Germany's most important railway junctions.

The German air force also was out during the night, dropping bombs at several places in southeast England and the home counties and giving London another alert, but no bombs fell in the capital and the British press association said only two enemy planes reached the city's outskirts.

U. S. CHARGES ALKALI TRUST

Justice Department Accuses American, British, Other Foreign Groups.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—Two American export associations, 12 American manufacturers, and a British Corporation and its agent were accused today by the justice department of maintaining international cartel agreements to restrain trade in the manufacture and marketing of alkalis, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Attorney General Biddle said a civil suit filed in the U. S. district court in New York alleged the defendants have conspired to allocate and maintain exclusive marketing areas and export quotas throughout the world, eliminating competition and restraining exports by means of illegal contracts, agreements and understandings.

The suit named four corporations—two American, one German and one Belgian—as co-conspirators.

Associations Named

The trade associations are United States Alkali Export Association, Inc., with principal offices in New York, and California Alkali Export Association, with principal offices in Los Angeles.

The suit is the first to be filed involving the activities of associations organized under the Webb export trade act. The act is designed to promote international trade by enabling American manufacturers to form associations to compete with foreign manufacturers.

"We do not, of course, intend to interfere with any of the legitimate activities of such export associations," assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge said.

Defendants named in the complaint included:

Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd., ("ICI"), a British corporation with principal offices in London, and Imperial Chemical Industries (New York) Ltd., a New York corporation wholly owned and controlled by ICI, London.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Inc., New York; Church & Dwight Company, Inc., New York; Diamond Alkali Company, Inc., Pittsburgh; Dow Chemical Company, Inc., Midland, Mich.; Hooker Electrochemical Company, Inc., Niagara Falls, N. Y.; The Mathieson Alkali Works, Inc., New York; Niagara Alkalia Company, New York; Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia; Southern Alkalia Corporation, New York; Westvaco Chlorine Products Corporation, New York; Wyandotte Chemicals Corporation, Detroit; West End Chemical Company, Inc., Oakland, Calif., Pacific Alkali Company, Inc., Los Angeles.

Co-Conspirators

Named as co-conspirators, but not as defendants, were American Potash & Chemical Corporation, with principal offices in New York; Solvay Process Company, New York; Colvay Et Cie. (Belgian Solvay), formerly of Brussels but now in London; I. G. Farben, German Dye trust.

Alkalis include soda ash (sodium carbonate), caustic soda (sodium hydroxide) and bicarbonate of soda, used in the manufacture of glass, textiles, chemicals, soap and many other articles.

20 U.S. PLANES SHOT DOWN BY AMERICAN GUNNERS

Tragic Mistake in Sicily Revealed by Reporter.

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16 — Twenty U. S. Army transport planes were shot down by Allied antiaircraft fire when they came within range immediately after a German bombing attack in Sicily, Sgt. Jack Foisie, correspondent for Stars and Stripes, has disclosed.

Addressing the Commonwealth club here yesterday in an Army-approved speech, Sgt. Foisie said the Sicilian invasion was as "near a perfect campaign as could wish for" but for the "unfortunate incident."

"Twenty C-47 transports with 18 men each, following in the wake of German bombers, were knocked down by Allied gunfire," Foisie said.

The correspondent observed very few ships were made in the successful African landings.

One was the "Washington announcement of the landings around Casablanca even as the forces were still five miles off shore," he said. "Talk about tipping off the enemy!"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16— Secretary of War Stimson acknowledged today there have been instances in the war of American forces mistaking their own planes and shooting them down.

Asked at a press conference about a statement by a correspondent of the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, that U. S. Navy gunners in the Sicilian campaign shot down 20 American C-47 transports by mistake just after the naval forces had undergone a heavy Nazi aerial attack, Stimson said:

"There have been instances, in the hurry and confusion of night operations, of one set of our forces mistaking our fliers for the enemy."

Churchill Answers Critic of Atlantic Charter

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 16—Prime Minister Churchill answered an attack on the Atlantic charter in commons today with a confident challenge to the opposition to test the government's strength, and declared:

"It is rather late in the day to begin these sweeping condemnations of the Atlantic charter which at the time seemed to receive a cordial welcome generally."

The issue arose when Labor-ite Rhys John Davies asked Churchill to arrange debate and said recent statements on the charter by the prime minister and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden suggested some of its principles had been abandoned.

Outright opposition to the charter was interposed by conservative member Maurice Petherick, who asserted it "contains principles highly dangerous to the British and allied cause."

Jimmy Stewart Leads Attack on Brunswick

By The Associated Press

A U. S. BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, March 16 — Major James Stewart is starring in a new role.

The former Hollywood actor led all Liberator bombers on yesterday's Brunswick raid, and fellow airmen said his selection as commander of such a large force testified to his ability.

INCOME TAX OFFICE HAS BUSY LAST DAY

Approximately 300 File Returns in Closing Hours.

At midnight last night, tired clerks in the local income tax office leaned back and figured that they had served about 300 Marionites yesterday. Earlier in the day they had estimated that about 150 would be in to file returns.

The waiting line thinned down after 11 o'clock and the clerks after checking found that approximately 2,000 returns had been brought to the office from other sources. A definite check of cash receipts hasn't been made out but it was estimated that about $17,000 passed through the Marion office yesterday.

An Associated Press report quoted R. J. Caddy, assistant internal revenue cashier in Cleveland, as saying that 1,000,000 returns had been filled there and payments up to Tuesday night were $123,981,462. Payments from Cincinnati were estimated at $62,988,004.

Collectors estimated that the last of the returns would not be in before Friday night although they must bear a postmark of not later than midnight of March 15.

Those who failed to make a return by the deadline are subject to a five per cent penalty for the first month and an additional five per cent, up to a maximum of 25 per cent, for each additional month, plus six per cent interest.

SON EVENS THINGS

Federal Legislative Budget Figures Cut

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—The house appropriations committee yesterday recommended $46,178,321 for operation of the legislative branch of the government for the next fiscal year, a decrease of $202,889 from last year's funds and $1,005,847 below budget estimates.

The committee also approved a $13,746,769 fund for the judiciary for the fiscal year, an increase of $481,672 over last year's appropriation but a cut of $703,150 from budget estimates.

Included in the joint bill was a $40,000 item for painting the dome and the central portion of the Capitol, which had its last paint job four years ago.

Of the total recommended for the legislative branch, $20,600,000 was allotted to the government printing office, $4,148,930 to the library of congress, $115,000 to the botanic gardens and $147,000 for the library buildings and grounds.

For operation of the senate the committee recommended $4,057,174, an increase of $43,743 over current appropriations; for the house, $9,602,463, a decrease of $214,278.

The committee turned thumbs down on a request for $300,000 for construction of an addition to the library of congress, asserting the project could be deferred "to a period of more normal conditions."

Progressive Grange Honors Servicemen

A regular meeting of Progressive Grange was held Tuesday night and announcement was made concerning the All-County Grange Memorial services to be held the second Sunday in June at Morral.

Mrs. Laura Gruber and Lowell Mack were chosen captains of a contest among the Grange members, the rules of which will be presented at the next meeting, March 28.

The lecture hour was in honor of the Grange's three men in service; Pvt. Robert E. Grice, Sgt. Darrell Grice and Fireman 3-c David Hughes. The program included: opening song "Sailing;" tableau, "When the Lights Go on Again All Over the World," Mrs. Frank Fairchild, Mrs. Mae Epley, Mrs. Cecil Davis, Mrs. Lowell Mack and Virginia Epley; roll call of the Service Flag; poem, "son" Mrs. Laura Gruber; "A Letter to a Moron," Grace Gruber; play, "The Letter," Mr. and Mrs. Howard Click and daughter Jean; Closing song, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The next meeting will feature a safety program. Virginia Epley will attend the annual lecturer's short course in Columbus at the State Grange convention, March 21 to 24.

A potluck supper was served following the meeting by the committee, Mrs. Anna Fetter, Grace Strawser and Mrs. Margaret Zachman.

An Army tank destroyer named "Lightning" fired 7,000 projectiles in seven battles in North Africa and Sicily.

Hobby Show Held At United Grange Meeting

A program and hobby show followed a business session at a meeting of United Grange Tuesday night. Guest speakers were Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Weiss, medical missionaries in China for a number of years, who returned several months ago on the exchange ship Gripsholm. They told of experiences in their work. Mrs. Weiss exhibited costumes and children's clothing.

Six applications were received. Reports on the progress of a membership drive were given by the captains, Ralph Herr, Charles Thompson, Earl Seckel and Albert Ruth. The program hour was in charge of the lecturer, Ferdinand Lawrence. Homer Kyle gave a talk on hybrid seed corn and in a contest an award of a bushel of hybrid seed corn donated by Mr. Kyle and J. W. Fields, was won by Wallace Coulter. For the hobby show the members brought exhibits of hobbies.

United Grange will be host for a countywide meeting March 23 and the grange degree staff will confer the third degree at that time. The fourth degree will be conferred by Mt. Olive Grange.

NEW TRUCK RULES EFFECTIVE MARCH 27

Effective March 27, over-the-road truck operators in the Columbus district will be required to register freight and empty or partially-loaded vehicles with the Columbus Office of Defense Transportation district office, it was announced today by A. F. Dankert, district ODT manager in Columbus.

The order is designed to assist over-the-road operators in utilizing their equipment to the fullest extent Mr. Dankert said.

To conform to the new registration plan, the ODT announced a revision of the loading requirements of the over-the-roda carriers and revocation of general order ODT 13, which authorized the establishment of joint information offices These actions will also be effective March 27.

The new registration procedure was adopted after consultation with motor carriers and labor representatives

Vehicles exempted from the requirements of general order ODT 3, revised, and ODT 17 are likewise exempted from the new registration plan, the ODT said. These include tank trucks, certain truck operations conducted by farmers, and vehicles whose capacity load does not exceed 12,000 pounds gross weight.

Upon registration by a common carrier of an empty or partly loaded truck, the ODT district manager may direct him to accept and transport registered freight, or if the truck is empty, the carrier may be required to lease it to a contract carrier or another common carrier. Partly loaded trucks operated by private and contract carriers will not be registered, but empty trucks of such carriers must be registered and may be leased to other carriers at the direction of the district manager

Mr. Dankert emphasized that it is imperative now, more than ever, in view of the increasing strain on present equipment and limited supply of new equipment, that every mile of empty truck operation be eliminated and that the greatest possible utilization of trucks be accomplished through the carrying of capacity loads. Delays in the movement of war freight can be avoided by loading trucks to capacity that now move empty or partly loaded. The registration of freight and vehicles he pointed out, will provide shippers with additional facilities to expedite shipments.

High School Cage Teams Renew Battle for State Title Tonight

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, March 16 — "March madness," a disease which seems to go hand in hand with the high school basketball tournaments, will start toward its peak in Ohio tonight.

The principal "sufferers" tonight will be centered at Youngstown as Akron Ellet, Columbiana, Lowellville and Bellaire St. John's open the firing in regional tournaments which will decide the four teams in each the class A and B divisions which will compete here March 25 for the state titles.

The A and B regionals at Bowling Green and the A meet at Dennison will get under way tomorrow night and all others will be run off in full Saturday.

Four potent records will be tossed into the arena at Youngstown. But the game almost every basketball fan in Ohio has been waiting for will come up tomorrow night at Dennison. That will be the clash between the defending class A champions from Newark and Martins Ferry. Neither team has lost a game this season, Newark winning 25 and Martins Ferry 24. They probably rate as the two top favorites for the 1944 championship.

Four teams in class A are undefeated this season. In addition to Newark and Martins Ferry, they are Findlay and Cincinnati Xavier with 20 victories each. None of the class B contenders has been able to escape defeat.

The first game on the class B program at Youngstown tonight will pit Akron Ellet with 18 victories and 3 defeats against Columbiana which has won 21 and lost 2. In the second encounter, Lowellville with 17 won and 8 lost will clash with Bellaire St. John's which has won 21 and lost 5.

The picture shapes up something like this in the other regionals:

CLASS A

At Youngstown: Cleveland Heights vs Canton Timken and Canton Lehman vs Massillon. Canton Timken has the best record with 20 won and only 2 lost but most dopesters seemed to think there would be little to choose among the four.

At Bowling Green: Van Wert vs Mansfield and Toledo Woodward vs Findlay. Findlay's perfect record makes it the No. 1 team.

At Dayton: Cincinnati Xavier vs Hamilton and Marietta vs Middletown. Xavier with 20 victories and no defeats and Middletown with 20 won and 1 lost loom as the favorites.

At Dennison—Newark vs Martins Ferry and Akron North vs Coshocton. The dopesters seem convinced that the winner of the Newark-Martins Ferry game will be the one to go to the state finals.

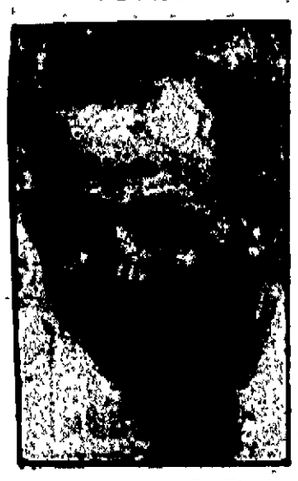
CLASS B

At Bowling Green: Lima St. Johns vs. Woodville and Whitehouse vs Marseilles. Doped as a wide-open affair.

At Springfield: Worthington vs Franklin and Tipp City vs Wyoming. Tipp City rates as the favorite.

At Logan: Grove City vs Corning and Philo vs Kitts Hill Philo and Grove City favorites.

IN TAG MATCH TONITE



Buddy Knox and Sterling "Dandy" Davis will make up the one team in the tag-team match at the Marion Armory tonight. Both these wrestlers are well known for the rough type of grappling. The other team will be Whitey Walberg and Jackie Nichols. These two should make one of the fastest teams to ever appear in Marion and one of the cleverest, both men having plenty of wrestling ability and know how to use it. Leo Jensen and Pat "Tex" Riley will open the show at 8:30 in a two out three fall match, one-hour time limit.—Adv.

Rickey's Survey Uncovers 5,000 Likely Prospects

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 16 — Instead of crying the blues, the Brooklyn Dodgers have been doing some post-war planning on their own hook.

For the first time in baseball history, a major league club has contacted all the high school coaches in the country, some 20,000, asked for recommendations of boys interested in pro baseball as a career and got them.

The fruits of those 20,000 letters are represented as a contingent of 30 youngsters who answer "present" when the roll is called at Bear Mountain and a complete card file on 5,000 lads for post-war reference.

Branch Rickey, Jr., head of the Dodgers' farm organization, started the whole thing in a search for something new. The old try-out schools were outdated. The pickings were getting slimmer as the competition grew hotter.

After plotting on a map the replies from the school coaches, Rickey sent two scouting groups on a Cooks' tour.

They found about 5,000 in whom they were interested, some to be signed immediately, some to be invited to training camps and others marked for another look later. One of the boys is infielder Dick Bishop of Lima, Ohio, who will go to the Olean, N. Y., farm of the pony league.

INDIANS SHARPEN THEIR BATTING EYE

By The Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 16 —Lou Boudreau and other major league managers discovered last year that training in the north permitted relatively few practice games and left batting eyes undeveloped for opening of the championship season.

The Tribe pilot intends to correct that situation as much as possible this year by holding daily indoor batting drills until he can take his Indians outdoors. The batting cages were erected for the first time yesterday in the Purdue university field house and every pitcher in camp took a brief turn on the rubber.

The biggest camp news of the day was receipt of a telegram from Al Reynolds indicating last year's American league strikeout king had decided to play ball while awaiting his draft call. Reynolds said he would be unable to report for about a week because of a case of acute tonsilitis.

U. S. Air Force pilots over Europe have noticed that the Germans are using an increasing number of fighter planes equipped with cannon of larger than 20 m.m. caliber, Flying reports.

Scores Running High in North-South Open

PINEHURST, N. C., March 16 —It's been many a day since an open golf tournament reached halfway mark without at least a few scores in the high 60's. But that is the case in the North and South Open with Sgt. Clayton Heafner out in front with 71-72—143 as the last two rounds began today.

Heafner, an Army sergeant, has a one shot lead over Leonard Dodson of Kansas City, who has 71-73—144. Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind., with 73-72—145, was in third place with defending champion Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, fourth with a pair of 73's.

ADVICE TO BOSS

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, March 16—When Robert R. M. Carpenter Jr., president of the Philadelphia Blue Jays, left to begin Army life today at Fort Dix, N. J., General Manager Herb Pennock told him: "Keep your eyes peeled for future ball players who are fighting the war with you."

Service Draft Set for Double Play on N. Y. Yankees

NEW YORK, March 16 — Add Yankees, running: Bill Dickey is passed intentionally, and Joe Gordon is coming up. The stage is set for a double play.

Which means the great catcher of the world champions was accepted for armed service yesterday and assigned to the Navy, and the star second baseman comes up for his physical today.

Other major league news:

Detroit Tigers — Ervin (Pete) Fox donned his old Tiger uniform yesterday to unlimber a bit with the Detroit players before reporting for duty with the Boston Red Sox. He has been complaining of an arm injury.

Boston Braves — Bob Coleman, new pilot of the Braves, gets his first look at his 1944 talent.

Washington Senators — The Nats may be warming up a dark horse for the hot corner, one Jake Powell, erstwhile outfielder. He looked good in a workout yesterday.

Pittsburgh Pirates — The first Pirate casualty of the first day at the Muniee camp was pitcher Max Butcher, who suffered a misplaced leg tendon.

New York Giants — With relief pitcher Ace Adams the only serious holdout, the Giants went through another three-hour workout at Lakewood, N. J.

Philadelphia Athletics — Connie Mack can pick his team blindfolded. At least, he picked an infield yesterday while the squad again was idle because of wet grounds. He named Dick Siebert, 1B; Irv Hall, SS; Edgar Busch, up from Elmira, 2B, and Georgie Keil, from Lancaster, 3B.

Chicago White Sox — The White Sox assembled 14 players.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 16—The Army sometimes does things to a guy—take Sgt. Lou Woods, for example, or Al Davis...Woods, just matched for a Chicago fight with Jake LaMotta, leading civilian middleweight, used to be one of those carefree kids who didn't have to work hard at his trade...Then the Army made him boxing instructor at Camp Grant, Ill. He decided to learn more about boxing, with the result that he's a lot better ringman now...Davis was a kid with a terrific left hook and a reputation for being a rowdy fighter that was a source of pride to him..."Bummy" once was banned from New York rings for roughness but was allowed to return after the Army gave him a medical discharge...He still has a lethal left, as he proved by stiffening Buster Beaupre and Bob Montgomery in less than three minutes of his last two fights...and those who have been watching him say the Davis who will fight Beau Jack tomorrow probably is a better boxing businessman than the old Davis.

One-Minute Sports Page

Johnny Fulton, the Stanford runner, has ended his eastern tour with no records except maybe the one he set running out on the Chicago and Cleveland indoor meets...Bowling Green, the dark horse of the invitation basketball tournament, is even darker after coming up with Don Whitehead, who played for Kentucky early this season, and Al Di Marco from Creighton via Navy transfers ...The Reds have sold their last minor league club, Birmingham, but boss Warren Giles says they'll be back in the farm business after the war.

Randall Hambletonian Preview

CLEVELAND, O. — This city will have two previews of the $40,000 Hambletonian stake to be raced at Goshen, N. Y., Wednesday, Aug. 9, in the program being arranged for the meeting at North Randall's mile track from June 26 to July 15.

The first of the previews will be the Matron Stake for three-year-old trotters on Wednesday, June 28, and the second preview will be the Stallion Stake, Tuesday afternoon, July 4.

Practically every colt, gelding and filly entered in W. H. Cane's Hambletonian is paid up in the Stallion and Matron Stakes according to Will Gahagan, secretary of the Trotting club and a real good line on the Hambletonian candidates will be gained at the Cleveland races.

Another big event for Cleveland will be the appearance of Volo Song, the Hambletonian winner of 1943, which was sold last week for a reported price of $50,000 by Bill Strang of Brooklyn to E. J. Baker of Saint Charles, Ill., in the Matron Stake for aged trotters on Saturday, July 1 and again in the Stallion Stake for aged horses on Saturday, July 8.

Joe Neville of Delaware, O., and his man Friday, Hank Thomson, are elated with the entry list received for the Grand Circuit meeting at the little college town in Ohio from Sept. 18 to 22.

In the ten early closing stakes a total of 324 trotters and pacers were nominated which far exceeded the expectations of the Delaware organization. The top number was 74 in the $5,000 two-year-old trot. The three-year-old $10,000 pace, a novelty for the Delaware meeting, brought out twenty entries. The other stakes had these nominations: $5,000 2:05 bar trot, 21; $5,000 2:04 bar pace, 24; $5,000 two-year-old pace, 46; $2,500 Three-year-old trot, 37; $1,500 2:20 trot, 35; $1,500 2:20 pace, 49; $2,000 free-for-all trot, 10; $2,000 free-for-all pace, 7.

That there has been great interest in the naming of the three-year-old pace to be raced at Delaware each year starting in 1946 was shown when Joe Neville received 1,200 letters with 5,000 suggested names for the event along lines similar to the $40,000 Hambletonian raced annually at Goshen, N. Y.

The Delaware committee mulled over the letters and names and finally cut the list down to eight and these have been referred to a committee consisting of Judge G. W. Rittenour, president of the U.S.T.A., Art Hinrichs, editor of Hoof Beats, Bob Terry of the Horseman, Gardner Duffey of the Harness Horse and Bob Kenefick, publicity director of the U.S.T.A.

The committee will meet at Indianapolis next Monday and pick the name of the stake from the following list: Whetstone, Pacemaker, Pacesetter, Little Brown Jug, Pioneer, Thunderbolt, Hurricane and Rainbow. To the person who suggested the name selected will go a check for $100 from Joe Neville.

Let The Buyer Beware
You're paying more for your clothes these days . . . ARE YOU GETTING MORE? Ceiling prices have been established for your protection. But let us explain that when these ceiling prices were set, the better grades of merchandise had advanced but slightly in proportion to lower priced goods. Fine garments take more hours to produce, and thus it is that stores may have fewer of the finer types of clothing to offer . . . but that clothing will represent far more value than the cheaper grades which have advanced so much in price. The cost is not much less than our superior clothing. So when you buy clothes, look for our label. That label is placed only on quality clothing. When it appears, the buyer need no longer beware. SUN SHINES ON REDS IN BLOOMINGTON, IND.

By The Associated Press

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 16—If this weather keeps up ice Cincinnati Reds will have a Florida tan and an April 15 snap in their muscles within a week

They got outdoors yesterday and hope for more today. They also hope for more sorely needed batting practice to get out of the habit of not hitting the ball.

Manager Bill McKechnie let some of the pitchers throw hard just to see if they could and Bucky Walters put in 15 minutes and said his arm never felt looser or stronger this early.

McNechnie gave some kind thought to appearances of Tommy De La Cruz and Arnold Carter, a couple of pitchers brought up from Syracuse in an effort to fill up the actual gap of Johnny Vander Meer's induction and probable gap of Elmer Riddle's

"I like both these boys," said McKechnie.

What Is Your Car Worth?

That depends on how much care it has had since it left the factory. Too many have neglected doing the things necessary to keep their cars in good condition. But it is not too late. The government says there will be NO NEW cars until the Japs are licked. Will your car do this? Yes, if you do not longer delay. Bring your car or truck to our garage, get a careful prepared estimate. We will check your car and advise you as to the cost of items that must be taken care of to protect your valuable investment. We buy and sell cars on a close margin. See us before you buy or sell.

STEELS, RAILS PACE MARKET

Gains of Fractions Recorded as Trading Opens at Fast Pace Today.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 16—Leading stocks, paced by steels and rails, pushed up to peaks since last July in today's early market proceedings but profit taking ultimately stalled the drive.

Gains of fractions to a point or more were widespread at a fast opening with volume running at the rate of about 2,000,000 shares for the session. Advances were reduced or converted into declines in many cases near the fourth hour.

Buoying sentiment was the war labor board turn-down of the A.F.L. demand for a boosted wage ceiling. Earnings and dividend hopes, plus political optimism, were bullish factors.

At best marks for 1944 were U. S. Steel, Republic, Crucible Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Gulf Mobile & Ohio, Western Union "A," Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber and Houston Oil. Stumblers included Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Great Northern, Westinghouse and General Electric.

RYE LEADS ADVANCE OF GRAINS TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 16 — Rye led an advance in grain futures today, moving to new highs for the past month on reports that additional distilleries would be requested to use rye grits in the manufacture of industrial alcohol. Commission houses with eastern connections were good buyers of the grain, which gained about a cent before meeting resistance.

The strength in rye encouraged buying of other grains. An increasingly tight feed grain situation in major terminals supplied underlying support for futures. Only 3,000 bushels of corn were purchased on a "to-arrive" basis, the smallest for one day in many weeks. Hogs reached a new four-month high here, making it more profitable to hold corn on farms and feed it to hogs.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I THINK any sensible mother of small children will understand the relief with which I accepted my small daughter's apologies for the rude maner in which she had addressed her grandmother and me. A furtive glance at my mother-in-law from beneath my lashes showed me that she was not only satisfied with my discipline, but was struggling with inward mirth, as I was at Faith's insouciance.

Coasting

"Where do we go from here?" I repeated, trying to make the child understand that it was not this expression, copied from Junior and Roderick, to which I had objected, but the appellation of "old socks," which she had applied to us. "Why, I think we hold hands and go around to the kitchen door where we'll find your sled. Then we'll go on up to your coasting hill."

"Oh, goody!" She began to dance up and down between us. "Then I can belly bust, mayn't I?"

My smothered sigh came straight from my shoe soles. I knew this was one of the expressions, also borrowed from the boys, to which my mother most strenuously objected. But I was surprised to see a smile on her face at the question as I answered, "Yes, darling," rather perfunctorily, I am afraid.

An then Faith completely flabbergasted me, as only a child can a grown-up. She stopped short in her dancing steps, and looking up into her grandmother's face.

"Granzie," she asked, "would you like it better if I said 'stomach bust' or 'so-do-men-bust,' or 'in-tes-tine-bust' instead of 'belly bust'." Rod and Jun thought maybe it might be better, and they drilled me how to say them, but I forgot just now, I was so glad I was out here."

Surrender

It was her august grandmother who "unconditionally surrendered who "unconditionally surrendered" this time, and I could not see how she could do otherwise. Faith's face was as angelically sweet as only a young child's face can be — occasionally — and she was so patently desirous of pleasing her grandmother that I did not wonder when my mother-in-law stooped and kissed the little upturned face, and murmured softly:

"No, darling, you need not say any of these words. Tell Junior and Roderick that you may say what they do, But," she added craftily, "you'll be a big, big girl soon, and a big girl would say: 'May I coast down the hill?'"

"'Coast, coast,'" Faith said, savoring the word. "Does that mean the same as 'belly-bust'?"

"Just exactly the same," my mother-in-law said as we turned the corner of the house and stopped at the kitchen porch, against the side of which Faith's sled was propped. At the sight of it, she dropped our hands, ran to the sled, and put it down, catching up the rope ready for the walk to her special slide which Jim had constructed for her ending in a safe heap of snow.

Last Word

"All right," Faith flung over her shoulder as she started away from us, tugging at her sled, "I'll 'belly bust' now, and when I'm a big, big girl, I'll coast."

I did not dare laugh until I saw my mother-in-law turn abruptly around until her back was toward Faith, and realized that her shoulders were shaking. Then I whirled, also, and we enjoyed a hearty laugh together.

"I suppose Richard would say," she observed at last, wiping her eyes, "that Faith had given us a belly-laugh."

The mirthful intonation in her voice, together with her genuine laughter, gave me the comforting assurance that her emotional strain was over, and I was further convinced when she put her hand on my arm and said earnestly:

"Don't bother your head about me until you have full time to talk it over with me. I'm going to work my own problem out, and my first rule is going to be to keep my mouth shut when it isn't necessary for me to open it, and the second, to try to adapt myself to the 'second and third generation' anyway. Now tell me all about Grantland and Lee Chow. Faith doesn't seem to need us."

Watched

Her eyes were upon the small girl, joyously "belly busting" down the hill, and then tirelessly pulling her sled up.

"No, she won't need any attention for a long time," I said, and then I brought Mother Graham up to date on everything that had happened.

"Hugh and Lee Chow are asleep now, I fancy," I finished, "and I'm sure they won't awaken until I take their luncheon trays to them. Mrs. Ticer will telephone me at noon, and if everything is all right, I won't have anything to do after luncheon until the Ticer men come over."

"Faith will be having her supposed-nap at two, won't she?" my mother-in-law queried.

"'Supposed' is the right word," I said. "You know how long it takes her to go to sleep."

"And she's likely to pop right into the hall if she's left alone," she went on. "Don't you think I had better go to the nursery sitting room and stay while the Ticers are here?"

"But, Mother," I protested, "that's the time the doctor said you should nap every afternoon. You know how strict his orders were."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Streamlining Baby

The transformation of the human body from the proportions of the baby to that of the adult is a very remarkable study in archetonics. I mean the general contours, leaving aside the detailed growth of such structures as teeth, hair, eyes, genitals, viscera.

If a human being grew to maturity maintaining the proportions of the baby we would regard him as a monster—all head and belly, little chest, stubby arms and legs.

It looks all right in a baby because it is natural. The baby's head is big because the brain cells are all laid down. They are not connected up yet, but they are all there and never will be added to or replaced. They are so precious that Nature is going to build a thick, solid, bony box around them to protect them. It protects the brain, but it also keeps it from growing, so it all has to be there in the first place.

The head in developing from baby to adult proportions increases twice its size, the trunk three times, the arms four times and the legs six times.

Most of the growth of the head is in the face, not the brain case. The proportions of the baby's head are from the eyebrows up—3; from the eyebrows to chin—2. The adults are just reversed from eyebrows to vertex—2; from eyebrows to chin—3.

The trunk grows mostly at the expense of the abdomen. The baby is pot-bellied with a tiny chest, and this is another perfectly natural provision because the abdomen has all the digestive organs in it, and the baby must eat and digest an enormous amount of building material for the rapid growth of the early years of life. The baby does not have to have a very large heart because it hasn't such a large area to drive blood over. Nor do a baby's activities require such rapid changes in the amounts of oxygen, so the chest which contains heart and lungs is proportionately small.

The arms and legs remain short until muscular development begins and the requirements of walking and holding, picking up and putting down come to the fore.

Nature can usually be depended upon to do a good job of this intricate process of development, but all too often something goes wrong and there is a disproportionate adult. Some artificial aid is needed. I am particularly impressed with the need for directing good posture, both from the aesthetic and hygienic standpoints.

Passive exercises such as the following in babyhood help normal development:

Exercise 1. Leg muscles. With the infant on his back, the mother's hands are placed about the soles of the feet; the legs are pushed up until the bent knees press gently against the abdomen; then the legs are straightened and returned to the table.

Exercise 2. Back Muscles. With the infant on his back, the legs are grasped above the ankles and raised to right angles at the hips; then the feet are brought to the face and returned to the table.

ALTHOUGH THERE is much stimulus for active and determined efforts to attain lofty ambitions, and objectives of great expansion and scope yet there are signs of all sorts of tests, trials, disappointments and obstacles, which may make a confused complex and discouraging state of affairs. The obstructions seem to arise from many diverse sources, with public, comunity, and cooperative support with held from high influential places. There may be open as well as subtle and sinister opposition. Yet the mind is well equipped with shrewdness, insight and flexibility to revise and accomplish worthy objectives. Be cautious, vigilant and shun unnecessary risks of all kinds.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of complex, difficult and confused issues, with many phases of obstruction, obstacle and opposition both open and under cover, and with little support or encouragement from superiors, elders or public community authorities. A policy of going it alone, with confidence in the soundness and integrity of ambitious objectives assisted by a shrewd and forceful application of a fine and aggacious mentality may eventuate in some measure of success. Avoid risks of all kinds, physical as well as financial. Shun quarrels and impetuous and turbulent tactics.

A child born on this day may have advanced ambitions, with much ability, sagacity, and vision, which may lead it through many dangers and reversals, if it will steer many risks with health and funds as well.
